Cubro and N. Krsman, Dnevni List, pg 3 'Incomes from fines and issuance of licences will stay in cantons', by Nermin Bise – The BiH House of Representatives did not endorse appointments of the deputies of Chief BiH Auditor, Munevera Baftic and Dragoljub Kovincic, stating that not all conditions have been met for giving such approval. The House concluded that the appointment of the Chief Auditor and deputies should be carried out after the adoption of the new law on auditing BiH institutions, currently before the BiH CoM. Oslobodjenje pg 7 'BiH Presidency's proposal rejected' by A. Terzic – SDP delegate, Zlatko Lagumdžija, criticized the fact that the BiH Presidency completely ignored previous HoR's conclusion that these appointments are to be discussed by the Parliament and after the CoM adopts the relevant law. Nikola Spiric of SNSD also harshly criticized Presidency to keep non-qualified person to the position of Chief Auditor only replacing the Deputies.

BHT 1 by Vanja Filipovic –After the BiH HoR's rejected Baftic/Kovincic, the current BiH Deputy Chief Auditors Samir Musovic and Dragan Kulina will remain in technical mandates for next six months. After 6 months, new Auditors should be elected through the vacancy announcement. BiH HoR also demanded that the mandate of all three Chief Auditors must expire on the same day.

BAM half a

Dragan
Covic?!

Oslobodjenje cover pg splash and pgs 4-5
'Ljerka Maric illegally transferred BAM half a million to Dragan Covic?!' by Azhar Kalamujic – The findings of BiH Audit Office on implementation of budget of FIPA [Federal Agency for Promotion of Investment] for Mostar Conference in February 2004 states that the conference may have been used for financial manipulations. Namely, the auditors established that upon decision of the BiH Ministry of Finance and Treasury, Ljerka Maric, half a million KM was attributed to FIPA account in Mostar, although its leadership neither planned nor demanded this amount from the BiH CoM at the time of preparations. However, allegedly three months after the conference, FIPA had learnt of these resources. Auditors also suspect that apart from the fact FIPA was not aware of this large amount of money at its account, it had no influence on how those resources would be spent. Furthermore,
the FIPA disassociated from actions of BiH Ministry of Finance but also from responsibility for expenditure of money.
Mostar Investment Conference was organized under auspices of Dragan Covic.

Audit report at BiH Foreign Ministry	Nezavisne Novine pg 5 ‘Embassies keep money from fees on their accounts’ by N.Krsman – During the audit into financial dealings of BiH Foreign Ministry for 2004, the auditors concluded that some diplomatic-consular missions (DKM) of the BiH Foreign Ministry kept the money collected from fees longer than stipulated time-period. The audit report notes that the amount of almost BAM 12 million was collected in 2004 during activities of DKM, which represents a significant income of BiH institutions.

S., Dnevni List, pg 3 ‘Incomes from fines and issuance of licences will stay in cantons’, by Nermin Bise, Vecernji List, pg 3 ‘Changes and amendments to Election Law adopted’, by E – BiH HoR on BiH Election Law; Vecernji List, pg 7 ‘Spiric heads House of Representatives’, by ra – The BIH House of Representatives adopted the report on the implementation of the BiH Budget for 2004, however after a lengthy debate they postponed the vote on the draft law on basics of traffic security on BiH roads until next session, after about 170 amendments were proposed. HoR also adopted the changes to the BiH Election Law, under which the mandate of three international members of the Election Commission expired on 30 June. The duty of the BiH HoR Speaker as of August 8 will be performed by the current Deputy Speaker, Nikola Spiric, who will take over from Sefik Dzaferovic.

SNSD Deputies have left the session after their proposal for postponing of this discussion was rejected. PINK by Ljubisa Davidovic– Pecelj stressed that the changes have been imposed by long-term obstructions in passing of the BiH Law on Higher Education, however the majority of opposition representatives deem the solution worst then the current legislation. RS National Assembly also adopted the Law on civilian war casualties which allows special benefits to this population category. Bosniak representatives opposed the law stating that it breaks basic human rights since only residents of RS in the period of 1991 till 1995 are entitled to the social care and stressed that they will invoke on protection of the Vital National Interest.

state

became shelter for compromised
officials

Vecernji List, front pg splash 'Leutar case: Creator of indictment in Justice Ministry' and pgs 2-3 'Reward instead of punishment', by Dejan Jazvic – VL notes that the BiH Council of Ministers and other state institutions have become "shelters" for compromised political and other officials. In that context, the daily says the latest in the series of controversial appointments is the appointment of former Sarajevo cantonal prosecutor, Mustafa Bisic, as the Assistant Justice Ministry (in BiH CoM), which was insisted on by the SDA. VL labels Bisic as the creator of the "disgraceful" indictment in the 'Leutar' case. Inset entitled 'Ashdown's silence' notes that despite having the power to put an end to irregularities in appointments of officials, the High Representative, Paddy Ashdown, is staying silent to the fact that the state government is "accommodating" compromised officials. On top of this, VL says the OHR does not even see anything disputable in Minister Branko Dokic continuing to work despite the verdict that was recently passed against him.

Canton 10: SDA, SNSD walk out from Assembly session	Dnevni List, pg 8 'SDA and SNSD representative leave session of Parliament', by NINA, Slobodna Dalmacija, pg 16 'Representatives of SDA and SNSD leave session of HBC Assembly', by E – Representatives of the SDA and SNSD left yesterday's (Thursday) session of the Canton 10 Assembly, which resulted in interruption of the session. Jukic – Talking about a possible successor to the current High Representative, Paddy Ashdown, the author says that connoisseurs in BiH, taking into account historic events/circumstances in BiH, believe that a possible new HR from Germany would not be accepted among the Serbs, and the same applies for a possible French HR, who would not be fully accepted by the Croats and Bosniaks.

Some people at SDA have now realized they could get hold of the position of the BiH CoM Chair.” He also denies speculations there is conflict between him and party’s leader, Sulejman Tihic. He does not think that police reform talks of two days ago failed. He welcomes stances of parties from F BiH that have demonstrated will to resume police reform talks, but also dissatisfaction over the conduct of political parties from RS, especially SDS that has initiated the continuation of talks and proposed those should be run within system institutions. He stresses it is good that all the political subjects have waken up from languour, adding: “High representative and myself are determined to continue this process. The institutions will, in the meantime make a plan of reform in detail.” He explains he will do all he can to make sure agreement on police reform is reached until 5 September, adding that agreement should ground on Vlasic agreement.

is not my homeroom
teacher'

Dnevni Avaz pg 4 'Let Ashdown think what he wants', announced on cover 'Ashdown is not my homeroom teacher' by S.Numanovic – SNSD assesses new meetings of political leaders regarding police reform are not necessary, while Milorad Dodik, SNSD President, says in a statement to DA that: "We have been advocating for some time now that authority bodies should carry out police reform, we strongly support Vlasic agreement and talks should move further from this point and resolve remaining two outstanding issues. It is impossible to expect that political leaders should decide on technical issues of organization, including regions and uniforms." Referring to HR, Paddy Ashdown's reaction, Dodik says that HR should direct an evident anger towards a failed authority concept at the level of BiH and RS he has been supporting. Dodik says SNSD will not provide an alibi for the failure of this concept, adding: "My non-attendance of a single meeting cannot be a ground for accusations I oppose the European path. However, let Ashdown think what he wants, we will continue to do what we have been doing so far." Responding to press question whether he would write a letter as HR demanded, Dodik says: "Ashdown is not a my homeroom teacher to dictate what I should write. However, out of courtesy, we will write a letter the way we think we should and hand it one of these days. We will not act upon dictate." He says he "is not certain" he would attend 5th September meeting on police reform. According to inset 'We will support defence reform' Dodik expresses SNSD satisfaction over the offered solutions for defence reform. Adding this party would support it.

Colak on police talks	RHB – BIH Minister of Security Barisa Colak stated for RHB that police talks on Tuesday failed since many political leaders refused to come. “If political leaders of PDP, SNSD and SDS send their written guarantees that they will participate than the institutional discussion could begin” said Colak.

CoM Chairman Adnan Terzic Wednesday stated he was willing to schedule the continuation of the talks as soon as the parties send letters of support. SNSD's Milorad Dodik says the support of this party represents encouraging of ruling parties to reach an agreement on police reform and added 'we will not block the reform if the ruling parties reach a compromise'. DNS's Marko Pavic says this party thinks it is acceptable to have a discussion on police reform in frame of institutions of BiH and entities. SDS still have not formed a clear stance on the initiative to continue with the talks in frame of institutions, since SDS President Dragan Cavic is on leave and other members of the party leadership refused to give any comments.

RS oppositions
says rulings
structures
should solve
police reform
issues

RTRS by Nada Arlov – RS opposition believes that the crises created by the failure of the police reform talks should be solved by those who are paid to that: that is the BiH Council of Ministers, BiH Presidency and the Entity Governments. Igor Radojcic from SNSD stated that SNSD will be productive concerning the police reform but they expect the “responsible” ones to come out with a concrete proposition. RS opposition even justified their non-attendance at the Tuesday’s meeting with their “firm attitude” regarding the responsibility noted that author. Drago Kalabic from DNS stated that High Representative Paddy Ashdown did not invite them at the secret meetings with RS president and SDS Chairman Dragan Cavic. “We cannot take the responsibility for arrangements created on the secret meetings” said Kalabic. RS opposition agreed that “Vlasic excursions” should end and the negotiations should be continued entirely within the institutions.

Jovicic condemned in the sharpest terms possible the ultimatums and exclusive requests that the HR in BiH, Paddy Ashdown, had addressed to the political leaders.
Centre Club: only RS NA can decide on transfer of authorities from RS police to state level	Glas Srpske pg 5 'Nothing aside the Assembly' by Z. Ma. – Centre Club of RS NA thinks police reform negotiations should be transferred back to BiH and entities' institutions. A press statement of the Centre Club warns, with regard to statements of some international representatives and CoM Chairman Adnan Terzic who claim transfer of authorities from RS Police onto BiH level was agreed upon on Vlastic, that such a decision can only be reached at RS NA.

European Integrations Director urges police reform	Oslobodjenje pg 7 ‘The condition is police reform’ – Director of BiH Directorate for European Integration, Osman Topcagic, stated for FENA on Wednesday commented the failed meeting on police reform stating that his Office is working under the presumption that the relevant parties would reach an agreement and that BiH could receive EC consent to launch negotiations on Stabilization and Association Agreement by the anniversary of Dayton Peace Agreement. “This would be the best message on BiH transiting to a new phase, from the post-conflict period into the period of real transition and preparations for EU membership”, said Topcagic.
SD on police talks: RS will ask for additional concessions	Slobodna Dalmacija, pg 14 ‘RS will look for new concessions’, by Zlatko Tulic – Commenting on the failure of police talks from the other day, the author is criticizing the Chairman of BiH Council of Ministers, Adnan Terzic, and High Representative, Paddy Ashdown, saying that the two are deluding the public with their stories on successful reforms in BiH, despite the fact that the BiH CoM has not properly worked since December last year. SD notes that, according to some information close to political circles in the RS, following the recent failure of the talks, Dragan Cavic, Mladen Ivanic and Milorad Dodik, will indeed send letters to the HR about their dedication to continuation of talks, however they will ask for additional concessions, despite already receiving a few concessions from the IC and FBiH-based parties.

Cubro – the author says it is obvious fear of politicians from police reform derives from fear from a police that would do their job in a professional and honest manner. ‘It is not secret many of those currently on power want to keep the control over the police’, the author notes.

Kristo – Carries an op-ed, which comments on the failure of police talks, saying the failure only confirmed the fact that the current authorities are in a “deep political blind alley”. SD goes on to say that “his (Ashdown’s) reformers” cannot and do not want to carry out the police reform, which is in reality another failure by HR Ashdown.

Opposition
warns no
social care
prepared to tackle VAT
consequences

Hayat by Elma Kazagic— Report states that the BiH has no Law regulating the social protection for vulnerable categories of population despite the fact that there are about 324.000 people depending on that social care, and a number of others living on less than 185 KM per month. Discussing this issue, the opposition parties in the BiH House of Representatives stressed that situation will become worse after introduction of the VAT, as no ground work has been carried out by the authorities in this regard, claiming that the price of basic living costs will rise.

“Unfortunately, beginning of the next year in winter period, the most poorest citizens of this country will be submitted to completely new, unseen, [raise in] pricing, ... which will devastate the most vulnerable citizens,” commented Zlatko Lagumdzija, SDP delegate in the BiH HoR. Lagumdzija also slammed the BiH Council of Ministers for dedicating about 40 million KM to fight consequences of the VAT introduction: *“Their social program foresees for all social problems to be solved for 40 million KM.
