Face to Face – FBiH HoR SDP MP Niksic: FBiH Govt was voted no confidence; FBiH HoR SBIH MP Briga: Drift in HDZ will block future work of Government	Hayat By Senad Hadzifejzovic – FBiH House of Representatives SDP MP Nermin Niksic and FBiH HoR SBIH MP Ismet Briga discussed the issue of relations between FBiH Parliament and FBiH Government. Regarding the last session of FBiH Parliament when the FBiH Government's report on their work and agenda for 2006 were not adopted, Niksic stated that this means that the Government was voted no confidence and that it is now in their technical mandate. Briga agreed that Government was inefficient justifying that with the general political scene in BiH. "Often, PM and his deputy do not agree over certain issues. Bad solutions have been offered which are not supported by SBIH," stressed Briga. Niksic stressed that all ministers are considered to be ministers of the parties that have appointed them and not of the citizens that they do represent. Regarding issue of Federal Electricity Regulation Commission [FERK], Niksic said that in 2005 Government ordered FERK to harmonize its regulations with EU standards, but than they have condemned FERK's actions, when they brought decision on increasing prices of electricity. Briga suggested that Parliament should once more discuss this issue, and Niksic stated that FBiH Parliament has twice unanimously ordered FBiH Government to exempt the citizens without FTV signal of paying the subscription, which was ignored by Government "so you really believe that discussing something will have any effect on the Government". Briga stressed that SBIH did not support the budget denying Niksic's accusations that it was only because SBIH party did not have a minister in FBiH Government, but immediately after their minister was appointed they adopted the proposal on budget. "Government cannot be dismissed over trivial things it has to be something major. And it is impossible because there is a political cooperation between parties; HDZ and SDA have three-thirds of the Ministers. It is the issue of timing" stated Briga. Niksic claimed that the problem is that MPs coordinate with Government in the way that "they scold Government a little bit for its inefficiency but than support its plans and proposals". Briga deems that the drift in HDZ will block the future work of the Government. It was concluded that citizens are the only one who can vote no confidence to the FBiH Government at the elections in October.

Article [see BiH Media Round-up April 28] alleges that 'Albanian model' will be practiced on BiH, which means that all EU institutions will keep on regular meeting with BiH authorities, but there will be no significant step forward towards EU. EC spokesperson Frano Maroevic said that BiH system is not efficient and that basic human rights are not respected. Maroevic did not exclude the possibility of applying 'Albanian model'. Maroevic also added that there is difference between BiH and Albania since reforms are questionable in Albania. Maroevic said that is important that BiH continues with reforms due to new round of talks on Stabilization and Association Agreement, on May 12. BiH diplomacy does not expect reactions from Brussels regarding failure of constitutional reform, since that was not the condition for SAA. BiH Minister of Foreign Affairs Mladen Ivanic said: "Some technical problems might happen, negotiations might last longer, visa mitigation might not happen." BiH House of Representatives Deputy Speaker Nikola Spiric said that citizens would decide on the October elections whether they want continuation of the European integrations: "Political adventurers played with this country and interests of regular people and that has to be punished on the elections." Although RTRS did not get contact with BiH Council of Ministers Chair Adnan Terzic, they reported Terzic's earlier statement in which Terzic said that SAA might not be ratified and signed without the adoption of the constitutional amendments.

He stressed that by doing so "basic principles of parliamentary democracy would be denied. And these are, as it is well known, right to different opinion and right to determine one's own destiny. Specially when it comes to Constitution." Halilovic concluded that the responsibility lies on those were in favour of constitutional reform: "They presumed that BiH Constitution could be changed trough unbearable pressures, logical deceives and crime threats."

I think it would be far simple if we had concluded issue of constitutional change as one phase, and than continued." He did not want to comment announcement that US will raise sanction against BiH, adding that it would be politically incorrect if sanctions would hit those who have done everything for the amendments to be adopted. Dodik underlined tha talks on constitutional changes will not be continued before October elections. Face to face – BiH HoR independent MP Avdic: I advocated for consensus, not for take-it-or-leave-it principle; BiH HoR SDA MP Ceman denied speculations that SDA instructed PM Zilic to vote against const. changes	Hayat Senad Hadzifejzovic – Independent MP at BiH House of Representatives Sead Avdic and SDA MP at BiH HoR Mirsad Ceman discussed the issue of constitutional changes after BiH HoR failed to adopt the amendments to the BiH Constitution. Ceman stated that he did neither envisage this outcome, nor that Avdic would vote against the proposed amendments. Avdic noted that he had no doubts regarding his voting, adding that he had advocated for the consensus and not for the take-it-or-leave-it principle: “[SDP leader Zlatko Lagumdžija and [SDA leader Sulejman] Tihic tried to have these amendments adopted by putting deputies under pressure.” He deems that the time will show that it was in the end a good decision, reiterating that if amendments were adopted it would mean the possibility to obstruct work of BiH Presidency and Council of Ministers. “I proposed to postpone the elections and voting on the amendments until the consensus is reached” said Avdic. Ceman replied: “According to the law the elections cannot be postponed. But even so, I believe that in month or two, we would not be in position to reach the agreement”. Avdic claimed that certain politicians cared more about their position instead about the Constitution. Ceman denied that this was Tihic’s interest. “Than why he did not include the amendment that the President of the state cannot be the President of a political party at the same time” asked Avdic. Ceman replied that this was not important to be included in the constitution because it was more the issue of political morality. Ceman denied speculations that SDA was secretly against the proposed amendments and therefore it asked BiH HoR MP Mehmed Zilic to vote against them, but in order to hide the scam they expelled him. As a conclusion, Avdic expressed regrets that the amendments were completely rejected since several amendments had been proposed in order to reach the consensus, adding that if the amendments had been adopted than political scene in BiH would have had turbulences.

I do not agree that it was better to make trivial reforms to the Constitution," said Zilic. Zilic said that it is better to do army and police reforms and to implement the ITA, which is not efficient because of the borders haven't been closed. Zilic commented: "US Ambassador [Douglas McElhaney], as a way of putting pressure on me, said that US was BIH's friend, which was correct but I had some doubts after Srebrenica and embargo on weaponry. So, I said to the Ambassador that he should say the same to RS politicians in order for them to make concession." Regarding the media accusations, Zilic denied that he had plotted the assassination of late FBIH Deputy Minister of Interior Jozo Leutar adding that he stands for the reopening of the case. Zilic denied that he has been "paid" to vote against the proposal as well as that this was his revenge to Tihic: "Tihic stated that party will not punish anyone who expresses his stances openly, but now I read from newspapers that I had been expelled although I haven't been officially notified by the party." He apologized for his outrageous statement issued at the session of BIH HoR that "even Serb can be elected as the President of the BIH," explaining that he meant regardless to the nationality "but with all that pressure and restless nights I made a terrible mistake".
