Cengic expressed his satisfaction adding the Court's verdict proves the process was politically orchestrated. "Unfortunately, we still have unprofessional police, which attempts to, thorough orchestrated documents, prosecute those that are not suitable to certain political structures," said Cengic. ‘Process against Covic and others in Lijanovici case commenced’ by A. D. – At the continuation of the proceeding in the ‘Lijanovici’ case, the prosecution has been obliged in the next 15 days: to provide the Trial Chamber of the BiH Court and defense attorneys with a summary of reviewed evidence material seized during the inspection of the Lijanovici business complex in Siroki Brijeg; to state whether there is any material they intended to lean on in the future procedure; to inform the Court and defense whether they intend to change the indictment or whether there will be any additional indictments. Chair of the Trial Chamber, Paul Garlic, made this statement on Wednesday at the debate before the Court of BiH. Defence attorney Marko Martinovic requested from the Court to order the prosecutors to conclude the investigation, because the indictment has already been confirmed and it is unclear how come two days before beginning of trial, the relevant bodies are taking action to seize enormous financial documentation, whose reviewing would take several months. He also requested a decisive interpretation on whether the seized documentation would be used as evidence in this process, because the trial cannot begin until defense have been provided will all documents the prosecutor intends to use as evidence. Prosecutor Jonathan Ratel says the document that were seized during the recent inspection are related to regular financial operations of the ‘Lijanovici’, saying he would be surprised if he found something new in the documents. He noted that he would provide the BiH Court with any new document. Both Oslobođenje and Dnevni List carry insets reporting that the BiH Court has rejected a proposal of the BiH Prosecution that employees of ‘Lijanovici’, namely Zdenka and Ljubo Simunovic, who got arrested the other day, be kept in a one-month detention.

On top of this, Danas learns that the Special department for organized and economic crime has started procedures against some 30 Croat companies from Herzegovina and central Bosnia, which are charged with various illegalities, such as tax evasions, customs frauds and money laundry. Apparently, in fear of ending up like the 'Lijanovici' (sudden raids), owners of these companies asked for the help from the OHR and Croat officials. Danas goes on to say that the whole story has an unavoidable political connotation to it, since majority of owners of the companies under investigation believe it is all part of bigger scheme by which leaders of SDA and SBiH want to dominate the 'Croat' areas.
BHT 1 examines the role of international law practitioners in BiH judiciary	BHT 1 by Suzana Stambol –BHT report looks into the cases, stating that a number of legal experts believe that the reason for large number of acquitting verdicts are large differences between BiH judiciary system and systems of the international prosecutor's country. Reporter stated that the Special department for organized and economy crime and corruption within BiH Prosecution, lead by the international prosecutors, have lost its second case. After BiH Interpol Deputy Director, Asim Fazlic, was acquitted of charges, the Court of BiH acquitted on Wednesday of charges BiH House of Peoples' delegate Hasan Cengic. "It is not realistic to expect, in conditions of any judiciary system, that indictments will be successful in every case that we process," said Prosecutor John McNair.

Finally, the author says that the prosecutors, by preparing extensive indictments many parts of which they usually drop, are making clowns of themselves.

PBS system

Dnevni List, pg 2 'Croats reject law on public RTV system', mentioned on front 'Croat Caucus invokes vital national interest', by Mensud Zorlak – The Croat Caucus in the BiH House of Peoples has invoked the vital national interest clause, thus preventing the adoption of Proposal of law of Public Broadcasting system of BiH. DL says that as one could have predicted this before the session even took place, since the Croat Caucus expressed dissatisfaction with the principles of the law. The issue now rests with the BiH Constitutional Court. Only Tomislav Limov from SDP opposed the procedure and supported the draft law. BHT 1 – Croat Caucus decided to take this step after none of the amendments to the law that they'd proposed was accepted by the HoP. Those amendments proposed the existence of three channels in languages of constituent peoples in BiH or establishment of another broadcasting service in FBiH. Croat Caucus Chairman, Ante Spajic, says there are many arguments on their side, including European conventions and BiH Constitution. "I believe that the Constitutional Court will issue positive decision," he said. This is the second law on PBS system that didn't get parliamentary support. According to BiH Ministry of Transport and Communications, this draft law guarantees equality to all peoples. "I can guarantee that this draft law is prepared in accordance with European conventions and all international regulations in defining public PBS system," said the BiH Deputy Communications Minister, Haris Basic. BiH CoM claims that the Constitutional Court will adopt its decision on this issue shortly, and that will ensure adoption of RTV system law by November, when BiH authorities believes that negotiations on Stabilisation and Association Agreement with the EU will begin. RHB, RB, PINK, NTV Hayat, FTV, RTRS, Dnevni Avaz pg 4 'Croat Caucus proclaimed law on public RTV system damaging for national interests' not signed, Oslobodjenje pg 5 'PBS law before the Constitutional Court' – also reports.

Beecroft argues that the problem lies in the fact that there are three visions in BiH, which all exclude each other and which are all directed into the past and not the future. "There are too many politicians who do not see a political interest in the reconciliation of the visions. The status quo is a trap they found themselves in", writes Ambassador Beecroft. Nezavisne Novine op-ed pg 7 'Great day for BiH' by Head of OSCE Mission to BiH Douglas Davidson – Head of OSCE Mission to BiH Douglas Davidson wrote, among other, that today is an important day for BiH because the BIH Election Commission becomes fully a state body since three international members of the Commission are about to leave it and 'as of now, the responsibility for elections will fully be in hands of peoples of this country'. Dnevni Avaz pg 9 'Why is OSCE leaving' op-ed by Robert Berry – similar op-ed by former head of OSCE, Berry

BiH HoR rejects Srebrenica
resolutions; BiH HoP adopts initiative to declare 11 July Mourning Day

BHT 1 – The BiH House of representatives failed on Wednesday to adopt two proposals for Srebrenica resolutions, initiated by delegates Elmir Jahic from SDA and Muhamed Morangic from BOSS. Serb delegates voted against resolution and requested those texts to be sent to the Commission that would harmonize them in a way acceptable to all BiH Parliament delegates, reports BHT. Jahic said that resolution does not contain anything that was not confirmed clearly by the judiciary bodies, the ICTY at first place, “and that is that genocide happened in Srebrenica and that responsible persons must be brought before justice,” he said.

SDS delegate Momcilo Novakovic says the problem is that proposed resolution means calling the institutions to take responsibility for what happened in Srebrenica “what practically lead to something against which we are fighting all the time and that is abolishment of the institutions and creation of collective responsibility for events in Srebrenica, what is absolutely unacceptable.” Member of the Association of mothers of Srebrenica and Zepa enclaves, Sabaheta Fejzic, is not how much such resolution is necessary at all, because the genocide in Srebrenica is confirmed by the ICTY. RHB, Hayat.
