Sarac – According to the compromise allegedly advocated by HR Paddy Ashdown, the Chair of BiH CoM Adnan Terzic and RS President Dragan Cavic, the first phase of the police reform would be about transferring financing and police jurisdiction to the state level. DA learns from well-informed source that the issue of police regions would be than discussed by director and entities deputies of police director. However, DA says that the largest obstacles to this solution is the fact that Cavic has not ensured the support for it at the SDS Main Board and Presidency sessions last week. DA learns 70% of his partisan colleagues were against this proposal, and apparently were not encouraged even with Cavic’s underlying that RS Interior Ministry would survive with reduced authorities and that the first phase of reform would not include the crossing of inter-entity boundary line. DA’s source close to SDS say the SDS wing close to Pero Bukejlovic doesn’t accept anything but the solution close based on RS National Assembly’s conclusions. However, DA says that these stances could change until the meting in Bjelasnica due to large pressures from the international community but also from Cavic. OHR, learns DA, asked from Cavic to, if necessary, remove Bukejlovic. “RS President would do that very gladly, and replace him with a friend, Finance Minister, Svetlana Cenic,” reads the article noting that as this is legally impossible without the crisis in the Government, and therefore Cavic allegedly asked from Ashdown to replace Bukejlovic and RS MoI Darko Matijasevic if their police reform proposal doesn’t win the support. Mostar: City authorities do not allow farmers to hold protests in front of HDZ HQ

Dnevni List, pg 5 'Farmers announced blockades of roads leading to Mostar', mentioned on front 'Farmers will block city', by Marko Karacic, Slobodna Dalmacija, pg 19 'Why are authorities afraid of farmers?', by Danijel Ivankovic, Vecernji List, pg 4 'Farmers are threatening with blockade', by R. A. – Protests of Association of BiH farmers were not held in front of the HDZ HQ in Mostar yesterday because the City authorities did not issue the necessary permit. According to the leader of farmers from West-Herzegovina Canton, Miro Pejic, the City authorities sent the decision only to the police, denying the farmers to see the explanation of the decision. City authorities however say the permit was not issued due to short notice and possible negative consequences on traffic in that part of the city. DL concludes that unlike last Monday, when farmers could take some of the blame, this time it is solely the responsibility of the City authorities, in other words a pure political pressure that prevented the protests from taking place. Pejic announces new protests in 15 days time, saying if the authorities keep behaving like they do, the farmers will protest in front of the City administration and even block roads leading to Mostar.

Presidency Chairman Jovic visits Mostar University , talks about Bologna process	Dnevni List, pg 12, mentioned on front 'State is still not giving guarantee for University', by V. Soldo – The Chairman of BiH Presidency, Ivo Miro Jovic, met with the Chancellor of the Mostar University (NB: Sveuciliste, Croat pre-dominant), Frano Ljubic, in Mostar yesterday (Monday). The main topic was implementation of the Bologna process in BiH. Ljubic noted that the state should provide legal pre-requisites, which the current law does not, namely the cantonal laws need to be changed or a law at state level should be enacted in order to continue with the implementation of the Bologna process. In this context, Ljubic explains that legislation at entity level would not suit the University because the University does not want anyone but the academic community to decide about its future. On top of that, Ljubic says the University has prepared a plan, which other BiH universities have supported, that BiH takes loans from international institutions and the money would be used for adoption of the Bologna process requirements. Jovic underlined that all problems pertaining to salaries of professors, lack of space and equipment at universities and other issues need to be sorted out by 2010 if BiH universities are to be accredited in accordance with the Bologna process. Slobodna Dalmacija, pg 19 'BiH needs to ensure 400 million Euros for Bologna programme', by Emil Karamatic – Notes that BiH universities believe it will take 400 million Euros to complete the process.
