Bise, A. Beus, Slobodna Dalmacija, back pg 'New prime minister designate by January 8', by A. Macanovic, Nezavisne Novine cover and pg 4 'No Government without SDS' by V. Popovic; EuroBlic cover 'Cavic to announce the name of designate on Christmas Eve' and RSpG 1 'Designate before Christmas' by Rajna Radosavljevic; Glas Srpske pg 5 'A strong authority searched for' by N. Diklic – Following the consultation meetings with RS political parties, the RS president Dragan Cavic stated that he has no parliamentary majority for any potential solutions over the new prime minister-designate. He told reporters that talks with the parties in the RS parliament will resume and that he will name the PM-designate by January 8. He will also send a letter to political parties in RS for which could in this moment nominate PM-designate and win parliamentary majority. Cavic deems that the best solution is for the new government to consist of six strongest political parties in RS – SDS, SNSD, PDP, SP RS, DNS and SRS – which would provide proposals for ministers from Bosniak and Croat people. Cavic announced negotiations for Tuesday with Party for BiH, SDA and SDP, as well as a special meeting with opposition leader Milorad Dodik.

BHT 1 – Cavic still believes that the PM-designate should be appointed from a smaller political party, such as DNS. He says that all 6 major political parties should participate in the new government. "We are going to discuss all possibilities, and I do not want to go into details; I think that the best thing would be to establish the government with representatives of all 6 political parties, especially representatives of two strongest ones. I think that political issues we are facing are such in which we do not need strong opposition, but strong consolidated political activities."

SNSD: early elections or Govt without SDS	RHB, FTV, RTRS, Dnevni Avaz pg 2 'SNSD's suggestions not supported' not signed, Oslobodjenje pg 4 'Early elections or Government without SDS' by Fena – SNSD Secretary General, Igor Radojicic, stated on Monday, following the consultations on electing the new Entity government with RS President Dragan Cavic, that consensus was not reached on the stands that this political party supports. Radojicic told the press that SNSD has once again presented its stands on announcing the extraordinary elections for the purpose of electing the new RS Govt, which would be managed by the SNSD without SDS participation. "There is no agreement on this matter and as far as we understand, the consultations will be continued", said Radojicic and added that this does not mean necessarily that SNSD will not participate in the Entity government because the concept for constituting the government is still unclear. BHT 1 – SNSD disagrees with an initiative to appoint PM-designate from DNS.
DNS not giving up Cavic's offer to nominate PM-designate	BHT1, RTRS, Oslobodjenje pg 5 'Not giving up on Cavic's offer' by Fena, Vecernji List, pg 2 'Dragan Cavic will decide about the prime minister designate', by f, Slobodna Dalmacija, pg 14 'Still without prime minister designate', by A. Macanovic – DNS leader, Marko Pavic, stated on Monday that this party has not given up on the proposal for nominating the candidate for the Prime Minister designate, but noted that the final nomination would depend on the RS President, Dragan Cavic. After the consultations with Cavic, stressing that this political party had previously accepted the recommendation of the RS President for nominating the candidate for the mandatory, Pavic said that the "response of DNS to that offer remains positive, and the President will present his opinion after consulting with the parties".

SDS says it will support any candidate with parliamentary majority Oslobodjenje pg 5 'Support to majority' by Fena, Dnevni Avaz pg 2 'SDS sticks to its stance', Vecernji List, pg 2 'SDS for new RS Government', by f, Slobodna Dalmacija, pg 14 'Still without prime minister designate', by A. He also underlined that all political parties have the possibility to nominate their candidates.

SDA on future
RS Govt and its participation

Dnevni Avaz pg 2 'SDA in RS Government?' by E. Sarac
– DA announces the meeting between RS President, Dragan Cavic, and Head of SDA Caucus at the RSNA, Tarik Sadovic. "I am not sure what is the reason, but I can say that all options are opened... I don't know what will happen, but in my mind the only realistic option is to have SDA included in the establishment of the RS Government," said Sadovic adding that it would be a setback for SDA not to have its five Bosniaks in the Government. "Second option, is for SNSD to established the Government with the party for BiH and SDP without SDS... However, that option is more theoretical than practical, because Cavic will not let Dodik have power just like that," added Sadovic.

Oslobodjenje pgs 4-5 'SDA sees chance in RS Council of Peoples', mentioned on cover, by Azhar Kalamujic – In addition to Sadovic's statement, daily also brings comment from SDA Vice President Adil Osmanovic, says he is certain that SDA will be opposition in RS in a future, as "the government on which Cavic and leaderships of six Serb parties will have a task to resist the international community in defence and police reforms in BiH." Osmanovic adds that this means that there is no place for SDA, SBiH, SDP and NHI in such Government, adding that five Bosniak and three Ministers will most probably be delegated from SNSD, PDP or circles close to these parties. However, he also expects Bosniak reps in the Council of Peoples to have bigger influence on adoption of the laws previously endorsed by the Govt and RSNA without consulting the non-Serb parties.

Other comments on establishment of RS Govt	RTRS by Sinisa Mihailovic – RTSR comments that SDS doesn't want to be left without Ministry positions. The SRS, only party that hasn't participated in the consultations, feels that the only solution for RS is for the 3 leading parties to reach an agreement. DL also learns from a senior, anonymous official of SBiH that the party could organize its convention come springtime. JNA established, Serbs will propose demilitarisation
of BiH

BHT 1, RTRS, Dnevni Avaz pg 2 'Dragan Cavic announced demilitarisation of BiH' by J.S., Dnevni List, pg 7 'Cavic believes in Ashdown's promise', not signed, Slobodna Dalmacija pg 18 'Demilitarisation of BiH, why not!' by F. "Accepting the solution of some new JNA in which all principles of majorization of one people over another is not acceptable for any political party in RS," said Cavic. Commenting on the most recent decision adopted by High Representative Paddy Ashdown to extend the mandate of the BiH Defence Reform Commission, Cavic said he was not surprised by the decision, adding he hoped the HR would honor his promise that there would be no imposed solutions in the military and defence sectors.

FTV feature on defence reforms

FTV by Dzenita Zirdum – FTV comments that a lot has been achieved in the field of defence reforms in 2004, the most important thing being the establishment of the BiH Ministry of Defence. Entities' Ministries of Defence should be abolished by mid of 2005, which would result in abolishment of entities' armies. In September 2004, High Representative Paddy Ashdown confirmed that 2005 was going to be the crucial year when it comes to meeting the NATO standards, while the activities leading to abolishment of the entities' defence ministries will start immediately. Ashdown said: "In any case, this should have happened in the next 3 years. But now, it is going to happen in 2005. The process is going to be supervised by Defence Reform Commission, which will have to prepare necessary laws to be discussed by the BiH Parliament and entities' Parliaments. We expect the laws to be adopted by 1 July and implemented by 1 September 2005." FTV comments that the implementation of the decision is not going to be an easy process. HR has admitted that BiH Defence Minister, Nikola Radovanovic, has an extremely difficult task ahead of him asking him to use the authority he has in the RS Ministry of Defence. Radovanovic said: "The request will impact my position and work of Defence Reform Commission and it will impact the entire 2005. To abolish entities' Ministries of Defence means to create new law on BiH defence." BiH MoD said it is going to start with the plan making after the holidays. If all the terms get fulfilled, there is possibility for BiH to become NATO and Partnership for Peace member, however this will not happen until all war criminals are arrested.

Also, when questioned whether the announcement of abolishment of entity armies represented a step towards the abolishment of entities, Minister Nikolic said: "In any case, the abolishment of entity armies means decreasing of competences of entities' institutions. One can interpret that the decision goes in direction of abolishment of the very entities".

Prlenda – The final solution to the future structure of police in BiH might be found only at a session of Peace Implementation Council that is to be held this month, learns Oslobodjenje. process

Dnevni List, pg 2 'Minister Halilovic proposes anti-constitutional law', by Erna Mackic – According to the President of Association of de-certified Police officers of FBiH, Ramo Sulic, the Proposal of law on Police officials, the proponent of which was the FBiH Interior Minister, Mevludin Halilovic, contains anti-constitutional and discriminatory provisions. Sulic says that Halilovic calls upon BiH's international obligations, whilst in the same time neglecting provisions of the European convention on human rights and freedoms, which resulted in de-certified officers not getting the right to prove their innocence, unlike war crimes suspects who have that opportunity. DL also reports that the Association addressed the MPs in the FBiH and BiH Parliaments, who have been asked to amend the Law on Police officials in FBiH and BiH. On top of this, the MPs will be asked to initiate the process of revision of certification process.

Update to dismissed OSA personnel

Nezavisne Novine cover and pg 5 'Agents suspected of illegal tapping remain at work at OSA' by M. Cubro – NW claims that Almir Dzuvo, OSA Director, has violated conclusions of the BiH Parliament, which demanded that intelligence officers suspected of illegal tapping in "coup d'etat" affair should not be working at OSA. According to Tihomor Gligoric, Chairperson of the BH Parliament Investigation Commission on coup affair said the Commission had demanded this following the hearing of those involved in the affair. Tomislav Limov, Chairperson of the Parliamentary Board for surveillance over OSA work, said that: "I do not know who was dismissed and why. We will wait for 15 day deadline (stipulated to filing the motions) expires and then we would check as to why each of candidates was dismissed. Investigation is taking place against those involved in tapping affair. The results of this proceeding would be above decision of the OSA Director, and I believe he would have to respect these decisions."

officers

Nezavisne Novine pg 5 'Criminals and candidates for the Hague stayed working at OSA' by D. Risojevic – The article contains some comments of those intelligence officers dismissed from OSA as of 31st December 2004. One of them, Predrag Ceranic, claims that the leadership of the Agency preserved at work only compromised personnel, involved in creation of terrorist camps, while the others with clear files lost the job. Mile Medjed, formerly Head of Prijedor OBS Centre, also claims that the process of dismissal is of political nature, stressing that "many criminals and candidates for the Hague stayed working at OSA". Mladen Cucun is also critical of the OSA Commission work for selection of staff, questioning as to how it is possible that the Commission could have checked on each of over 1000 employees at OBS and FOSS for only 100 days. He concludes that superficial selection process speaks for itself.

RTRS by Pejka Medic– RTRS also carries comments by Medjed, Ceranic, and Cucun. They all stressed that they meet all criteria for OSA and therefore do not understand dismissals. Former OBS [former RS intelligence service] high ranking officials also didn't make it into OSA. Reporter comments that their dismissal is connected to SDS-PDP conflict regarding key positions in RS MoI, intelligence services and the Security Ministry. Reporter concludes that dismissed workers who were contacted by RTRS today announced lawsuits in the matter.

Cubro – Deputy SIPA Director, Dragan Lukac, has stated in an interview to NN that SIPA took over the control over financial transactions in BiH on December 28, which would enable state authority to know whether any funds are used for financing of terrorism and other criminal activities. Every person that makes a cash payment in the amount of 30 thousand KM or more would become "the subject of interest" for SIPA, which must investigate the reason for the payment and origin of the money. He further notes: "If we notice something suspicious, we have the authority to stop all transactions and block accounts'."

DL's sources reveal that a strategy is being put in place in order to adopt the law through outvoting.
