Dnevni Avaz pg 2 'It is good Dayton has not been considered Holly Scripture any more' – "In principle, all political leaders agree that there was a need to open these talks and that there was a good beginning in Washington. New round of talks on const. changes on Tue in Sarajevo ; HDZ demands abolishment of cantons; SNSD: SDA not ready for reforms; SDS : focus on Presidency, Parliament, CoM; Tihic not to be present due to a trip

Dnevni Avaz, pg 8 'Cosmetic changes are unacceptable for majority', by L. Sinanovic – Announces that the second round of talks about constitutional reforms will continue on Tuesday with participation of Donald Hays and his associates. The talks will gather representatives of SDA, SBiH, HDZ, HNZ, SDS, SNSD, PDP and SDP. Mirsad Ceman (SDA) notes that the party will stick to its earlier positions, and according to Avaz the same goes for SBiH and HDZ, whose spokesman Miso Relota notes that the two-entity division of BiH is unacceptable for HDZ. He also notes that the HDZ will not agree to abolishment of cantons if the entities remain in place. President of SNSD's Executive Board, Nebojsa Radmanovic, notes: "We are ready to actively continue talking about constitutional reforms. However, the question is whether all are ready for it, because the raising of issues with the Constitutional Court shows that either Sulejman Tihic or SDA are not ready for reforms. If this goes on, I am sure that issues that have been agreed upon will not be realized". SDS' Momcilo Novakovic expects progress in talks, adding that this could happen only if talks are to focus on the issues of BiH Presidency, Parliament and BiH Council of Ministers. Dnevni List, pg 5, mentioned on front 'Agreement between parties about entities impossible', by Ivana Rozic – carries statement by HDZ's Relota, and statement by the SDA President, Sulejman Tihic, who will not attend the talks since he will attend meeting of states of Islamic conference in Mekka. "Our position is clear, it goes along the lines given by Nicholas Burns and Ollie Rehn, which are the one President (of BiH), Government and Prime Minister instead of Council of Ministers".

Covic to represent HDZ at Tuesday's mtg; BHT1: SDA still has no appointed representative; Simic: Const. changes must be reached through compromise

BHT 1 By Sanita Lisica Biberovic– At the upcoming meeting on the constitutional changes, HDZ will be represented by Dragan Covic, who was not presented in Washington, and some media speculated that USA haven't allowed him entrance in the country. Majority of FBiH Parties aren't satisfied with agreed changes, stressing that they lead to nowhere. HDZ Spokesperson, Miso Relota underlines abolishment of cantons and parallel preservation of two entities would be unacceptable. Tihic says the reason for his absence from the meeting is a trip to conference in Mecca that can't be postponed, but according to the reporter he still hasn't appointed the person that will represent SDA. "We truly aren't satisfied with these solutions proposed so far; in fact we aren't satisfied with stances of RS Parties, whereas their representatives aren't prepared to go to significant and true changes," said Mirsad Ceman from SDA. "If Tihic or anyone else, is expecting that constitutional changes are only what he says...will be terribly wrong-constitutional changes have to be a compromise, a good analyses and foundation for establishment of consistent legal system in BiH," said Krstan Simic of SNSD. RTRS – Hays stated that expects the talks to be focused at the continuation of discussion on the future role of the BiH Parliament and Presidency. He added he will also work with parliamentary commissions on preparing amendments to BiH Constitution. Vecernji List, pg 5 'Croats of central Bosnia are concerned', by Vlatko Ivankovic – Statement of the HDZ Vice President Marinko Cavara on future of BiH same like Relota's.

Oslobodjenje int/ with Davidovic: Possible to reach agreement with Brussels in one year, become EU member state in 10 years	Oslobodjenje cover pg splash 'It is possible to reach agreement with Brussels in one year' and pgs 4 and 5 'Big setting a house in order is ahead of us' by M. Kavaz-Sirucic carries an interview with Chief BiH negotiator with EU Igor Davidovic who says that expectations according to which consent on all elements of the SAA would be achieved in one year are realistic. Davidovic also believes that BiH can negotiate within the current constitutional frameworks and he added that the issue of constitutional changes has been intensified lately, however it is completely clear that the constitutional changes would not influence considerably the course of the negotiations. Asked to comment on the statement given by chief Bulgarian negotiator with EU who said that his biggest challenge is to resist the influence of Brussels and not to forget that he represents his country, Davidovic said: 'I used to tell our diplomats in Washington: never forget that we do not represent interests of the US administration in BiH, but the other way around. I am aware what it means to find oneself before the powerful administration which starts to dictate. I have never had problems with that.' PINK, BHT1, Glas Srpske pg 3 'First round in middle of January', EuroBlic RSpG 2 'First round by 15 January' by SRNA – Davidovic also stated that the first round of negotiations was going to be held in period of January 15-20, 2006. Adding that he expects talks to be over within a year, Davidovic adds that in that case BiH would officially become the EU member in 10 years.

As for his request on the change of the RS flag, anthem and insignia submitted to the Court over a year ago, Tihic believes that in the light of the constitutional changes it would be just right for the highest judicial instance to make a decision on this legal matter. As for the further course of the talks on the constitutional changes, Tihic underlines his stance has not changed: there should be just one President without Vice Presidents, the Prime Minister and strong government instead of the Council of Ministers; a functional Parliament, where there would be no entities voting in the House of Representatives and the Council of Peoples dealing only with the issues of the vital national interests. Commenting the current mayhem between the parties in the RS, Tihic says this is not a new situation in which everybody announces resignations but nothing changes.

Bukejlovic also stresses that the power in the RS is practically in the hands of PDP, not SDS, because its staff holds all key positions. Mladen Bosic, SDS Vice President, commented on Terzic' call saying that SDS has not as yet decided whether it would demand removals of Ivanic and Dokic. HR Ashdown:
Bosna is not
Kosovo

Vecernje Novosti pg 2, announced on cover 'Bosna is not Kosovo' by Dusan Stojakovic – In a page-long interview to daily, Paddy Ashdown, High Representative to BiH, is summarizing results of his three-and-a-half year "rule" in BiH. HR admits he made some mistakes during his mandate, without willing to exemplify those, adding: "When I came to BiH, I set four tasks to myself. The first is to bring BiH to the course of statehood, results of which I am satisfied...My second task was that BiH heads towards EU, which has been done...Third goal was to bring the state in a phase when it no longer needs HR. I have never stated I would be the last one on this position, but I am happy with the announcement of IC that BiH would no longer need institution of HR in October 2006 if BiH continued its progress towards EU. The fourth task was to stop young people leave BiH. it seems to me this exodus has been somewhat slowed, but still insufficiently." He stresses that the Kosovo issue has nothing to do with BiH, noting that any attempt to change BiH border would have catastrophic consequences and would represent playing with fire that would raise tensions in the entire region. On RS status, he says he has never stated RS should be abolished, reiterating that only and solely RS citizens can decide on RS destiny. On police reform, he reiterates police reform is the last big reform demanding reduction of sovereignty, noting there will be more reforms in BiH in the future that should make it more functional. He strongly rejects journalist speculation that BiH is a field for experiments of international community.

He is also certain that if the BiH Council of Ministers' proposal gets the support, BiH will not have time to join NATO and he added: 'At this moment BiH must 'buy' capability since this is what NATO is interested in...If you invest a little, you would be developing more slowly and you will not be capable and this will not be a positive signal.'
BiH- SCG agreement on dual citizenship	Oslobodjenje pg 5 'RS Government requests for changes', Dnevni Avaz pg 8 'RS Government requests for changes to the BiH-SCG agreement on dual citizenship' – The RS Government tasked the RS Ministry of Administration and Self-governance to start an initiative on its behalf before the BiH Council of Ministers for opening talks with representatives of SCG to change the agreement on dual citizenship.
