Sinanovic – In an statement to DA, the OHR Spokesperson Kevin Sullivan states on the unification of the electro-energy system in BiH: "Synchronization of the electro-energy system in BiH, i.e. of the entire south Balkans with Europe, can be seen through two separate segments. First refers to the fact that south Balkans to date has operated entirely differently from European frequency,... and the division line went through central Bosnia. And now, than 10 after, it will be much easier to enable much easier distribution of the energy," Sullivan said. Secondly, he explains, this process is justified in long-term view as the unification will allow consolidation and further development of the market in BiH, and distributors will sell the surplus of electricity much easier. "Synchronization of the BiH electro-energy system with European presents a big economic potential and opens possibilities for development," Sullivan concludes. Dnevni List pg 16 'United electro-energy system as of Sunday' not signed and Slobodna Dalmacija last pg 'BiH electricity goes to Europe' by Z. surprise

Vecernji List pg 2 'Even candidates who received smaller number of votes can win' by F. Nezavisne Novine, pg. 5 'Victory of candidates that won less votes in the first round is possible' by Fena – BiH Election Commission member Lidija Korac stated for FENA that pursuant to solutions offered by the preferential system of electing candidates for mayors it is theoretically possible that candidates who won much less votes in the first round of voting be elected in the second round thanks to votes from the second and subsequent preferences. She said that options offered by the preferential system depend on to what extent the voters used the first and subsequent preferences and that it is entirely possible that political parties recommended to voters to use the options of the preferential system. The preferential system gives strong changes to moderate candidates, Korac said.

BHT 1 – BiH Election Commission counted 4.000 votes from abroad out of total approx. 143.000 registered voters [Election Commission expects that about 65.000 have voted]

Malagic – The Chair of the BiH Election Commission, Vehid Sehic, states that no party should pronounce victory in any of the municipalities in FBiH too early. This has been confirmed by the president of the SDP HNK branch, Huso Kapic, how denied any possibility of being in coalition with SDA or Party for BiH in order to create. Current Mostar Mayor and chair of SDA Mostar board, Hamdija Jahic, says that SDP's opinion is not good for unified Mostar. Inset under title 'A favour to a HDZ-led Coalition' reads that "according to the opinion of the independent analysts, with this attitude, SDP in a certain way did a favor for the Coalition of the Croat parties led by HDZ... enabling these parties to impose the solution for city on Neretva."
Halilovic says the most important SBiH has 'control packet'	Dnevni Avaz pg 5 'Halilovic: The stories on division in Party for BiH are ridiculous', mentioned on cover, by Edina Sarac – The leader of the Party for BiH, Safet Halilovic comments to the election results: "SBiH has certain oscillations in the election results, but they are close to those of 2000 municipal results... [The party] has a reason to be satisfied with these election results. On the other hand, every party desires better results... but in principle we are satisfied that we won the sufficient number of mandates to have the 'control packet' and to say in big party's 'troika' in BiH." He denied any possibility of division inside the party.

Lagumdžija on election results	Oslobodjenje pgs 4-5 They got 12 mayoral positions in BiH' by S. Rozajac, Dnevni List, pg 6 'Heads of municipalities secured in 12 municipalities', by Danka Polovina-Mandic – According to the SDP President, Zlatko Lagumdžija, the party can be satisfied with results achieved in the local elections. Apparently, SDP has already won 12 offices of heads of municipalities, whilst its candidates will go into second round in additional 15 municipalities. DL claims HSS is second strongest Croat party in BiH	Dnevni List, pg 8 'HSS takes over supremacy from NHI, merger to follow', by Zvonimir Jukic – The author claims that, judging by election results, the HSS has become second strongest (after HDZ) party with the Croat prefix, replacing the NHI in the second place. Despite not winning elections in any municipality, the HSS managed to win seats in many municipal councils. Still, the author reminds that the two parties announced a possibility of merging after the elections, which leads the author to say that a possible merger would represent a respectable factor

DA on results of elections in Brcko	Dnevni Avaz pg 8 'Djapo is the most serious candidate for Brcko Mayor' by E. DL notes that all in all, 97 candidates submitted 400 applications for the said positions since candidates applied for several jobs. On basis of the applications, the relevant Commission started with interviews of candidates, all candidates were graded and lists for every position will be prepared. Apparently, Jahic, Beslic as well as the OHR received the list on basis of which Jahic and Beslic have to choose which candidates are to be selected. DL concludes that the aforementioned Agency will send a protest note in case the appointments are not made in due course.

possibility of new census

Oslobodjenje cover splash, pgs 4-5 'The census would be an award to Karadzic' by Az. Kalamujic – The Helsinki Committee in BiH stated on Tuesday that it is necessary to carry out population census in BiH assessing that after that authorities could make better voters lists. Committee has stated that the elections went in fair and democratic manner, however noted the big issues with the registration of the citizens for voting and a number of issues with the voters' lists. Daily writes that census issue has been discussed in the state parliament for the several times, however political consensus has never been reached. Article brings several comments of the BiH politicians. Leader of SBiH, Safet Halilovic, says that carrying out the new census would be an award to all those who support the politics of Radovan Karadzic, as the number of returned Bosniaks in RS is symbolic. SDA Vice President, Bakir Izetbegovic is of the same opinion, also stressing that there should be no census without Annex 7 of the DPA implemented and refugees returned. SDS Vice President Bosko Siljegovic says that the return process was completed and that conditions for census in BiH were made long time ago. HDZ Vice President Niko Lozancic commented that census should be carried as soon as possible.

Adoption of the Law on stabilization and accession agreement in delay	Nezavisne Novine, pg. 3 'BiH Parliament did not respect deadline it has set for itself' by M. Cubro – BiH Parliament has overstepped the deadline set for the adoption of a set of laws needed for the start of negotiations on stabilization and accession agreement (SAA). The Parliament had had an obligation to adopt the set of laws by September 30. Martin Raguz, the Chairman of HoR of BiH Parliament, says it is not important that the deadline would be overstepped for 10-15 days. 'I think the true problem is the implementation of laws and we need to pay full attention to this, although we have little time left to implement it until the end of the year, by which time EC expects to see a progress in fulfilling of pre-requisites', Raguz said. Adnan Terzic, CoM Chairman, thinks the delay in the adoption of the laws would not cause any delay in start of negotiations on SAA. Frane Maroevic, EC Spokesperson, reminded that the EC has stated it expected to see BiH making a progress by the end of the year.

New EC Commission for Foreign Affairs on EU expansion	BHT 1 – Oli Ren, next EU Commissioner for External Affairs, said that the countries of the Western Balkans are invited to join EU despite the time they need to meet all the political requirements. Ren will take over the function of Chris Patten on November 1. According to Ren, expansion of EU will include the margin parts of Europe, such as the Western Balkans, and it will be carried out to as long as year of 2013. Oli Ren: “The transfer of responsibilities for Western Balkans to EU Commissioner who is in charge of expansion gives a cleat sign that [these] countries will become EU members when they get ready for that.” Ren already warned Croatia to solve problems with Slovenia , and Serbia to start cooperation with ICTY.
DL op-ed on possibility that BiH joins Europe	Dnevni List pg 2 ‘Deluding’ by D. Polovina-Mandic – carries an editorial about BiH’s aspirations to join the EU and the author reminds that the NATO’s Parliamentary Assembly sent a message to BiH that it would be accepted into NATO’s Partnership for Peace programme only when Radovan Karadzic and Ratko Mladic are arrested and when BiH changes its complicated constitutional and legal organization. The author says that these two conditions are something that BiH cannot meet at the moment and apart from them violation of human rights, basic freedoms, democracy etc. is also on scene in BiH. The author concludes the editorial by saying: “Because of all these reasons there is an open question whether the stories of international and domestic officials who say that BiH is on a doorstep of open doors of Europe are just deluding?”

Security and legal issues

Dnevni List, pg 7 'Sending of BiH de-miners to Iraq after adoption of law', by Danka Polovina-Mandic – Sending of a BiH de-mining team to Iraq could be halted until there is a relevant law in place in case the Joint commission for defence and security policy of the BiH Parliament adopts the Proposal of resolution submitted by the SDP at next session of the commission. Siljegovic goes on to say that the commission passed a conclusion that all members of the commission, who had remarks to the Proposal, should work together with the proponent to improve the Proposal of the law. The BiH MoD is also given 7 days to deliver its opinion in written form. Apparently, the submitted amendments stipulate that the decision on participation of BiH armed forces, police forces and state officials in peace missions abroad should be made by the (BiH) Parliamentary Assembly, whilst the BiH Presidency is to take decisions on sending and withdrawing them.

Oslobodjenje cover, pg 5 'Parliament decides on sending troops to missions' by A.Prlenda, Glas Srpske, pg. 2 'Everyone gets their own jurisdiction' not signed, Nezavisne Novine, pg. 3 'Amendments were adopted' by Srna – also report.
