SRS might not	FENA – President of the Serb Radical Party support RS	(SRS) of RS, Milanko Mihajlica, stated on Government	Monday that his party would not support the new RS Government in case the Serb majority, required for its appointment, was not secured.

Croat member	SRNA — The Croat member of the BiH of BiH	Presidency, Dragan Covic, stated that the Presidency	RS resistance to the changes of the Dayton Covic on RS	Agreement is a result of the justified resistance to	fear from centralization and that the constitutional	decision making process would be carried changes	out entirely in Sarajevo. In an interview with Belgrade based 'Politika', Covic underlined that DPA has already been radically changed. On the BiH lawsuit against SCG for aggression, Covic said that he doubts in its 'good' outcome: "It appears more and more that Bosniak… are suing SCG, so even I — the member of the Presidency — do not know at what stage we are in this regard."
Serbian	SRNA — The advisor to the Serbian advisor:	Jovan Simic , said today that the ICTY Silajdzic,	Prosecution has presented to the Tribunal Cengic or	an indictment against either Haris Ganic indicted	Silajdzic, Hasan Cengic or Ejup Ganic for for war crimes	confirmation. He told SRNA that the Prosecution signed in all three indictments for BiH/RS. "What is certain, is that one indictment pertains to an official of the former Bosnian political or military leadership," he said. Simic reiterated that one indictment probably pertains to former JNA general Momcilo Perisic for the shelling of Mostar. He explained that the Prosecution signed six indictments before December 25, which were not presented until January 10 because of the holidays, and that one of them is against Kosovo premier Ramus Haradinaj .

CoM Chairman Terzic goes to Brussels to meet senior EU officials, talk on abolishment of visas to BiH citizens	<pre>Dnevni Avaz, pg 3, mentioned on front 'I will ask for abolishment of visas to BiH citizens', by S. Numanovic – Carries an interview with the Chairman of BiH Council of Ministers, Adnan Terzic, who last night departed for Brussels where he is to have a series of meetings with senior EU and NATO officials, including the EC President, Jose Manuel Barosso, and NATO Secretary General, Japp de Hoop Scheffer. When it comes to the meeting with Barosso, Terzic says it will be an opportunity to analyze the progress achieved so far in reforms in BiH and to stress the interest of the BiH CoM that the EU places BiH on the list of countries that does not require visas to enter the EU. Terzic says: 'There have been some announcements that the visa regime towards BiH could be liberalized. On the other hand, I advocate the complete abolishment of visas, not only the liberalization. Earlier we got a list that we need to realize and now we have to analyze with the new Commissioner Franco Frattini what BiH has done in order</pre>

Member of PDP Main Board Rodoljub Trkulja said that the Government was going to be elected on 15th of February since it was in RS' interest. Trkulja said "Approach of new RS Prime Minister designate is still not clear. That is why the question how to support the new Government arises. It will depend not only on RS PM's approach, but on SDS's opinion on solution of crisis in BiH Council of Ministers. Op-ed on PDP's support	Nezavisne Novine op-ed pg 7 'Semi-pregnant to support the new RS Government or not, by saying PDP's stance "we will not, but we also will" reminds of a story of a semi-pregnant lady and indicates PDP is slowly changing its direction back to SDS again. He explains such a development of the situation by the fact that RS NA delegates would hardly accept the fact they would lose their chairs if they fail to support PM designate Pero Bukejlovic .

	He claims fear of Mladen Ivanic that he would have to face an indictment over selling "Kristal" bank for only 1 €, unless Bukejlovic gets the necessary support, also contributes to this situation. He concludes by saying that, if PDP supports Bukejlovic, it would be an interesting political suicide of a party.

	SDS does not care who Bukejlovic is but it is only important that he is a person that can be manipulated with and that would hide crimes of his party comrades. He police reform

TV Pink – Recently, High Representative Paddy Ashdown has presented proposal on new police organisation in BiH. HR proposed 10 police regions. Great majority of BiH politicians disagree with the proposal. Representatives from BiH House of Representatives commented the proposal. SDA representative Elmir Jahic said: "We especially disagree with the width and residences of certain police centres. Sarajevo regional centre is a small one; by this the relevance of the capital is being neglected. On the other hand, when talking about Foca regional centre, Foca has never been a regional centre, in any way. The only possibility is for Foca to become logistic shelter for ICTY indictee Radovan Karadzic." Independent representative Mladen Potocik said: "Principle by which the police is organized on state and regional level is OK by me, but I do not understand the International Community and why it does not think about the fact that all regions have to have its police, judiciary and administrative systems established while discussing on such organization, which means that the whole issue is not harmonized since here are 5 regions and 10 police regions." SDS representative Momcilo Novakovic said: "SDS finds the whole concept of regions which goes beyond inter-entities' borders unacceptable." SDP representative Selim Beslagic said: "I think that this solution allows Paddy Ashdown to present it as a democratic principle, which proves that BiH is going to work hard to solve the issue. The only thing I find acceptable is the deadline by which the whole issue has to be solved." Independent representative Petar Kunic said: "I think that the proposal is not in accordance with BiH Constitution, due to the fact that it abolishes entities' borders." HDZ representative Ivo Miro Jovic said: "I really have no idea on how the whole thing is going to function, time will prove." Note: Reporter commented that it was obvious that HR would have to use all his authorities in order to make the representatives accept his proposal.

	issue had to be solved through discussion, which was supported by all relevant RS police structures. RS President Dragan Cavic said "PIC points out that the reforms could be carried on only by consensus. By this, fact and HR's statement, that no decisions regarding police reform are going to be imposed, is strengthened. The solution has to be reached by consensus in order for Feasibility Study terms to be fulfilled.
	It was also said that problems are being more realistically approached. Consensus, as political approach in solving these problems, is being supported. It is especially stressed in areas defined by HR's decisions; such as defence reform, where HR decided to extend the Commission's mandate and police reform, where HR decided to establish Police Reform Commission, which ended its mandate. This implies that there would be no imposing, and that consensus will (need to) be reached."

Regional conference on war crime processing ends in Belgrade

BHT, Dnevni List pg 2, mentioned on front 'BiH adjusted its legislation to ICTY the most' by De.L. – The conference called 'Creating conditions for transferring competence on domestic courts in procedures started in The Hague' finished its work in Belgrade on Sunday. According to a source close to the Conference, the impression has been made that BiH has done the most when legal regulations and adjusting of the legal system to the ICTY principles is in question. DL also says that President of the BiH Court Meddzida Kreso had a very remarkable presentation during which she stated that persons who committed war crimes in BIH should stand trials in BiH and not in some other countries. Mihajlovic, Vecernje Novosti pg 14 'Kantarevic surrendered' not signed – A father armed with pistols and hand grenades who kidnapped his four year-old daughter and fled by car across Europe, gave himself up Sunday in his native Bosnia, police said. Edin Kantarevic, an emigre who left his home in Germany after a family row, had surrendered without incident at Bosanski Novi, a spokesman said. The child was safe. Kantarevic left Viersen in western Germany Saturday night. Police cars pursued him through four countries but did not attempt to halt him because he had threatened to kill the girl. "We didn't have a chance to intervene because we did not wish to put the child's life at risk, knowing the man was armed and desperate," said an Austrian interior ministry spokesman. There had been a risk of the man blowing up his daughter and himself with a hand grenade if police tried to arrest him, the official warned. German police cars pursued Kantarevic as far as the Austrian border, where an Austrian special police squad took up the chase Sunday morning. The fugitive crossed into Slovenia and reached the border with Bosnia where local police negotiated with him. "Bosnian police established contact with him when he arrived on their border" Sunday afternoon, said Bernhard Treibenreif, head of Austria's Cobra crack special police unit, told AFP in Vienna. "He agreed to hand over his grenades and one of his two pistols," he said. "The Bosnian authorities guaranteed that he would be tried according to normal and not under special anti-terrorism laws." Kantarevic gave himself up at Bosanski Novi in Bosnia , where his parents had a house, local police said.
