The first version envisions three nationally mixed brigades and a mixed HQ, the second one envisions a Serb brigade and two mixed Croat-Bosniak brigades and the third version, labeled by the daily as the most acceptable to the current authority, envisions three national brigades. Regarding the latter, the brigades would be commanded by an HQ whose composition would be determined by the national key. According to VL's source close to NATO, the future State Ministry of Defence would be run by one minister without a possibility of appointment of a deputy minister. Regarding the reports that COMSFOR, General William Ward, presented a report according to which the future BiH army would have 12.000 troops, VL reads that NATO also prepared a plan to reduce the number of troops since BiH cannot afford to have that many. He yesterday stated that the municipal defence departments are sending call-ups to Bosniak returnees to RS, adding that young Bosniaks do not want to serve the army in RS. According to him, the solution to this problem lays in extension of five-year deadline, set by the Dayton Agreement, according to which the recruits were not to be called-up before this deadline expires. SD: Interview with Croat member of BiH Presidency Dragan Covic	Slobodna Dalmacija (front and page 17, by Blanka Magas, " Avengers are persecuting me") carries an interview with the Croat member of BiH Presidency, Dragan Covic. With regard to re-organization of BiH, Covic says currently BiH has numerous levels of authority that should be reduced, first of all, for the economic reasons. Covic believes it is necessary to find solutions through which all three constituent peoples would meet their national needs and interests, and they would agree whether it would be a high-quality regionalisation or further cantonization. Asked about relations with the international community, Covic says the problem is in a certain degree of distrust that the IC representatives have towards them. Asked whether it is distrust towards them as representatives of national parties or towards authorities in BiH in general, Covic says it is more a general attitude towards the authorities in BiH. With regard to the criminals charges that the Federation Customs Administration filed against him, Covic says it is interesting that almost all persons who participate in fabricating of the affairs against him come from the same milieu and that some of them had been removed by decisions of the Federation Government at the time he (Covic) was in the Federation Government.

DL's editorial on IC in BiH	Dnevni List (page 5, by Z. Jukic, "Conflict or arranged casting of roles") wonders whether the US and OHR have two different approaches when it comes to dealing with BiH. Reminding of the two recent visits to Herzegovina, first by the Croat member of BiH Presidency, Dragan Covic, and the PDHR, Donald Hays, and the second visit by the US Ambassador to BiH, Clifford Bond, and the Director of Federation Customs Administration, Zelimir Rebac, the author says the Bond-Rebac visit saw a confirmation of the charges against Covic, something that one could not hear during the Covic-Hays visit. In light of this, the author wonders whether there is a conflict between the US and OHR or whether it is about a pre-arranged casting of roles. Jukic's conclusion reads that if it is about the casting of roles then we will in the future have a similar situation like we have now and if it's not, the conflict is bound to escalate to an extent which will result in removal of the current OHR administration.
Statement of Day: High Representative Paddy Ashdown	In today's Statement of Day, Dnevni List (page 2), carries the High Representative for BiH, Paddy Ashdown as saying: "BiH Council of Ministers will pass the decision on Eronet."

Deputy Prime Minister of the HNC Government in technical mandate Miroslav Coric says he was misquoted by DL because he has never accused the Bosniak Ministers for the fact that the HNC Government has not been formed yet but the Bosniak MPs (in the HNC Assembly). Coric also said that a session of an independent commission took place yesterday, however, the solution was not found. Coric believes that the session of the HNC Government will take place to the end regardless of the result of the discussion on the first item. He says he does not have a model for forming of the Government and that the parties have to propose the candidates. Coric expressed hope that OHR will take certain activities during this week and added: “I suppose that OHR will have to make a cut.”

Accordingly, the RS Government has obliged the RS Ministry of Internal Affairs to submit a report as soon as possible, which is to say what measures the RS MOI undertook during the investigation over the past month. As a remainder: RS Ministry of Internal Affairs has so far filed 13 criminal reports following RS EP affair. DL: "OHR must remove Zijo
Hadziomerovic"

Dnevni List (page 6, by Zvonimir Jukic) carries an editorial in which the author says if Mostar is to become a normal city in the next few months of its restructuring, there should be "process of political decontamination of political space in Mostar which started during the tenure of the High Representative Wolfgang Petritsch". According to Jukic, Petritsch removed persons that contributed to deepening of distrust among the Mostarians, and during the process Petritsch removed many local HDZ officials, which in turn resulted in Mostar HDZ changing its rhetoric regarding the future of Mostar drastically. Jukic's recommendation is that the next step should be the removal of Head of Mostar's Municipality Stari Grad, Zijad Hadziomerovic (SDA) who, according to Jukic, has a negative influence on events in Mostar through his statements and acts. Jukic's conclusion is if Hadziomerovic were to be removed, the OHR would show its credibility and clear attitude towards local nationalism.
