BiH team completed the first round of seven-day presentation of the arguments, after which they stated htat proving genocide did take place would not be the problem. Expert at BIH team, Luigi Coporelli stated that SiCG did nothing to prevent or halt crimes thus encouraging it. He noted that members of Yugoslavian Army were sent to take part in Srebrenica events. BiH legal expert Alain Pellet stressed that BiH is not seeking vengeance but justice, stressing it was much more important to prove the genocide than to get the compensation. SPRS' Gligoric noted many delegates would support this initiative. Hayat – Gligoric stated that the relation between executive and legislative authority does not function at all. "This is enough for CoM dismissal", says Gligoric. He adds that other reasons are related to CoM decision not to support commission which would be tasked for auditing donations spending in BIH as well as certain irregularities in the Indirect Taxation Administration, calling it the institutions which allowed an increase of the grey economy in BIH, failure to adopt the law on sports, law on higher education and so on. "Every one of these reasons is enough for vote no confidence to CoM", concludes Gligoric. RTRS – BiH HoR Collegium is obligated to include this initiative into agenda of the HoR within deadline of 20 to 30 days. SDS' Cavic doesn't support work of the CoM; announces meeting with Terzic to ask dismissal of SDS's Minister

RTRS – RS President and SDS leader, Dragan Cavic, announced on Tuesday that he would meet with Chair of the BiH Council of Ministers, Adnan Terzic, in the next week and present him with a written request of SDS for removing ministers and their deputies from SDS, because this party no longer supports the CoM. If this is not done, stressed Cavic, the SDS ministers and deputy ministers will have to resign, and if they fail to comply, they will be removed from SDS, while the ministers who are not members of SDS will face ethic and moral norms. DL also says that being aware that he could not avoid consequences for such move Zoric tried to persuade representatives Ruza Sopta, Vlatka Komsic and even Niko Lozancic to join him, however, so far it is certain that Ivo Lozancic only would join the new party together with Zoric. The Commission was asked for the opinion by the BiH political parties who took part in the negotiations on constitutional changes and failed to agree on the manner of election of BiH Presidency. Venice Commission's stance was sent to the Chairman of BiH Presidency Sulejman Tihic, and it reads that the Commission prefers solution under which there would be only one President elected by indirect elections adding that the proposal of electing president and two vice-presidents is a transitional solution for them. Dnevni Avaz pg 4 inset 'Market: Comment of the Venice Commission on March 18'- Venice Commission Secretary Thomas Market stated that this draft would be formally passed during the next session of the VC, on March 17 and 18, when the official explanation would be submitted as well. RHB, PINK, Hayat, FTV, Oslobodjenje pg 3 'Commission hasn't given a concrete response' by Fena, Dnevni Avaz pg 4 'Members of BiH Presidency to be elected in BiH House of Representatives' by A. Tihic stated that the Commission prefers one President and indirect election, with the special focus on the role of BiH House of Peoples in election. The Commission deems the BiH House of Peoples shouldn't have role in the process, as constitutional changes are directed at decreasing HoP's authorities. Dnevni Avaz pg 4 'Members of BiH Presidency to be elected in BiH House of Representatives' by A. Malagic– "[Commission] prefers indirect election, deem that this proposal we sent has many limits. That is... there is a possibility to block elections. They believe role of the HoP shouldn't be essential in this [process]... this House should be abolished or its authorities should be decreased. They have proposed a model which gives leading role to the HoR, but as I understood, without entity vote" stated Tihic for DA.

VL notes that the same proposal has come from the HDZ leader, Dragan Covic. The Association says leaders of parties must no longer carry out the negotiations, but instead competent bodies of RS and F BiH, as in accordance with the Constitution, should carry out the negotiations.

Hayat – At the press conference in Sarajevo, HDZ-DemoChristian caucus in BiH House of Representatives stressed they oppose the agreed constitutional changes calling them cosmetic changes. Chair of HDZ-DK caucus Vinko Zoric stated that the entity election at the BiH HoR presents just cementing of the Dayton division of BiH into two entities where Croats will be unable to protect their interests. Member of the Caucus, Martin Raguz, said there should be more efficient and rational institutions in BiH. “In order to achieve what we need to take in the entire process including the lower levels which means that we are for decentralised BiH,” stressed Raguz. Kresic carries an interview with Chairman of the BiH Presidency Ivo Miro Jovic who says that the current result of the constitutional changes talks cannot meet needs of Croats and BiH citizens. Jovic also said that the Croat side would start with the implementation of the agreement reached between political parties and US State Under-Secretary Nicholas Burns because it says that constitutional changes would continue. Jovic added: 'If we accept cosmetic changes only and they imply survival of 2 entities with 3 peoples Croats would not be again in the position to launch the discussion on constitutional changes and current situation would be legalized. We must not allow that something like this be verified in the Parliament.' Asked to judge 'pressures to reject his appeal with regard to PBS system', Jovic said that he respects the judicial authority and he does not belong to the groups, which like the OHR instruct what the court would decide. SBiH leader Halilovic on const. changes: Basic principle of consensus is breached; requesting opinion from Venice Commission is hypocrisy	Dnevni Avaz pg 5, mentioned on cover 'It is being made constitutional basis for division of BiH and separation of RS' by Sead Numanovic – Commenting recent talks on constitutional changes, in an interview for daily SBiH leader Safet Halilovic stated that participants in the negotiations have been constantly breaching principle of consensus established as a basic principle in decision making process. He added that main principle at the beginning of the talks was that "nothing is agreed until everything is agreed". As a leader of a party that did not support talks, Halilovic said that they could only result with strengthening of the RS constitutional position, dissolution of BiH and separation of the RS. "When SBiH, HDZ or HNZ do not want to support [orchestrated] constitutional solutions based on the stances of the RS parties, than they [organizers] did the 'procedural trick' and simply declared that 'the agreement' is reached, although they did not have the necessary consensus of all the participants." Commenting the fact that Venice Commission is now to council BiH politicians on an issue of BiH Presidency election, Halilovic said it is hypocrisy firstly not to respect suggestion of the Commission than request their opinion on the same issue again.

VL on constitutional changes: BiH political scene divided; Professor Boyle: Bosniak authorities working on division of BiH too	Vecernji List, pg 5 'First phase of constitution', by Zdenko Cosic – Commenting on the constitutional changes in BiH, Cosic argues that the US Administration is in the hurry to wrap up the process ASAP, which divided the BiH political scene. As for announcements that the second phase of talks would continue after the October elections, VL carries SDU Vice President, Miro Lazovic, who says that the IC, back in 1994, promised a 'second phase' in terms of the territory under Serb occupation returning i.e. joining with the FBiH, however the then 'second phase' never came because the Contact Group acknowledged the RS in September 1995. VL also carries professor Francis Boyle, who wrote the BiH's lawsuit against SCG, who told 'Deutsche Welle' that the ongoing constitutional changes are just a phase in the 'sophisticated plan' of division of BiH that was conceived in Washington in 1994. Boyle believes that even the Bosniak authorities and representatives before the International Court of Justice are working on it since they allegedly rejected his proposal to try and have the RS abolished.
