Pink feature on possible consequences of VAT	Pink Milka Mrdja – FBiH Chamber of Commerce thinks that implementation of VAT will result in escalating of economic issues, if nothing is done on protection of domestic production. RS Chamber of Commerce and many of economic analysts seem to agree with this assessment. Chairman of Economic Chamber of Region Banja Luka, Mladen Micic thinks that implementation of VAT will produce problems, being that State still hasn't developed social programs or defined who will be beneficiaries of that program. Micic added that weaker companies in BiH will experience decrease in profit, being that increase of prices will decrease buying power of citizens. Economic analyst, Borislav Bijelic explained that prices of products, which now have lower rate of sale tax, will increase, stressing that implementation of VAT will also result with closure of certain stores, which again will result with increase of unemployment rate. Bijelic stressed that it is no surprise if organized expressions of dissatisfaction happen, even if they increase to social revolutions.

Paul Garlic who tries 'Covic and others'
submitted resignation

Dnevni Avaz pg 2, mentioned on cover 'Paul Garlic who tries 'Covic and others' submitted resignation' by A.
Malagic, Inset: 'Prosecutor submitted resignation too', Vecernji List cover pg splash 'British judge submitted resignation because of Covic' and pg 3 'Judge Garlic left refusing to try Covic and Lijanovics!' by Z. Kresic, V.
Rupcic say that British legal expert Paul Richard Garlic refused to be in charge of the court procedure for the Covic-Lijanovici case. Garlic justified such decision by saying that he came to BiH to work on processing of war crimes and not to be engaged in the cases dealing with the organized crime and corruption since he can be engaged in such cases in the UK as well. VL says that such Garlic's decision additionally raises doubts that a part of the International Community directs the whole Covic-Lijanovici case since Prosecutor Matts Matson, who was on charge of the investigation, refused to sign the bill of indictment on this case. VL also says that Garlic stated that after his aforementioned decision he talked with British Ambassador to BiH Matthew Rycroft and OHR officials in charge of the BiH Court 's work.
According to VL, it is interesting that the OHR did not want to say anything about the Garlic's resignation, while people from the British Embassy said that they do not know about the meeting of Rycroft and Garlic.

	Political Developments/Reforms
VL comments on BiH's prospects to join EU	Vecernji List pg 4, mentioned on cover 'BiH in EU – never!?' by D. Jazvic carries that officially within the EU 2014 is most frequently mentioned as the year when BiH might become a full EU member. VL also says that on the other hand American analysts are much less convinced that BiH might become a full EU member by 2014 and they ground such stands on internal disagreements in BiH, as well as on the problems which emerge within the EU itself such as non-adoption of the budget for the period 2007-2013. The article also quotes the National Intelligence Council led by former US Ambassador to BiH Richard Kauzlarich that claims in his report called 'Projection of global future 2020' that in case that the EU does not implement an internal reform the process of the EU expanding might be completely stopped and in this way BiH and some other countries from the region might stay in front of the EU door forever.

VL: Serb representatives ready to accept police reform under certain conditions

Vecernji List pgs 4 and 5 'BiH threatened with isolation' by M. Ivesa carries an article on the police reform and VL claims that according to the sources close to the International Community the RS authorities are ready to support a new re-organization of the police under certain conditions. The first condition is the one according to which along with the police centre in Tuzla another police centre in Bijeljina would be acting as well. Also, apart from the regional police centre in Mostar, the police centre in Trebinje would be formed as well and it would get under its ingeneration the Ravno Municipality , which is situated in the Federation of BiH.

Update to implementation of agreement on harmonised political activities of RS parties

Nezavisne Novine pg 6 'Dead letter on a paper' by V.Popovic – The political parties-signatories of the Agreement on principles of harmonised political activities are of the view that eight months after, this agreement represents "a dead letter on paper with no chance for revival". The opposition is of the view that the ruling parties (SDS and PDP) have betrayed the agreed principles, since they allowed destruction of the constitutional position of the RS. Ognjen Tadic, political advisor to Dragan Cavic, who is also in charge of implementation of this agreement, says that the Agreement has never been out of effect, adding that political subjects that have signed it should raise the issue of Agreements' existence.

Interview with SDP BiH leader Lagumdžija: The authority rests for entire year

Nezavisne novine pg 5, announced on cover 'The authority rests for entire year' by V. Popovic – In a page long interview to NW, SDP President Zlatko Lagumdžija accused the current authority of failure to develop a social program that would soften economic impact on citizens' revenues after VAT is introduced. He said the authority 'instead of resolving social issues of citizens facing poverty, as well as other reforms, is taking a collective vacation'. He emphasized only elections can change such a situation in BiH and he is certain reforms in BiH will not be implemented in BiH 'until October next year, when elections are to take place'. Asked whether he thinks politicians would be able to reach a compromise regarding the police reform, Lagumdžija said they will, most probably, reach some kind of an agreement on police reform with four-five years long deadline for the implementation and he added: 'the authority will only create an illusion they have done something just to please Ashdown and their mentors. That is their goal.'
