News Summary

Ambassador Holbrooke meets with BiH Presidency members

New US Ambassador to the UN Richard Holbrooke visited Sarajevo on Wednesday where he met with BiH Presidency members. Holbrooke expressed US Government appreciation of the BiH Presidency initiative to make 21November, the date the Dayton Agreement was signed, a BiH national holiday. Holbrooke was positive about the atmosphere at the BiH presidency session adding that all three members of the Presidency were determined to help all refugees return to their homes. Speaking about the problem of corruption in BiH, Holbrooke stressed this was a major problem and that more has to be done in fighting it or the International Community and US might reduce financial assistance to BiH. BiH Presidency Chairman Ante Jelavic announced a new set of measures the Presidency will undertake to fight corruption, first of which will be the balancing taxes in both BiH entities. Jelavic handed Holbrooke a Certificate of Appreciation on behalf of the Presidency for his efforts in bringing peace to BiH.

SDA objects to BiH temporary election law

The SDA Presidency discussed the draft election law for BiH and curriculum for the 1999/2000 BiH school year. The SDA made several objections and gave a few suggestions to the permanent election law. The biggest objection regards the P2 form that introduces ethnic ghettoization and prevents refugee returns. Speaking about the curriculum for the next school year, the SDA stressed that it will reject any curriculum that would bring segregation of schools and students on an ethnic basis.
