It is also a dark curse hanging above the heads of each individual person." He also added that although there may not be a single economic market in BiH, it is certain that the crime related market is unified in BiH. Ashdown further said there are three reasons why Karadzic should face Tribunal: justice, stabilisation and third is to remove the "curse" from the RS population, especially from its eastern part.

Commenting how will Commission describe events in Srebrenica, Cekic responded: "Commission should accept [ICTY] verdict against general Radislav Krstic where the crimes were qualified. DL says that deadline for passing of unified Mostar
budget was postponed

Dnevni List, Saturday, pg 7 'Deadline for passing of budget will be postponed for June 30?', by Z. Jukic – DL carries that according to their IC sources in Mostar, a unified Mostar budget will not be adopted within a set deadline by May 31. DL says that the information received from the OHR itself, which say that Norbert Winterstein was engaged in Mostar again because of passing of a new rules of procedure on the work of the Mostar City Council, that the current composition of the Council failed to pass at the last session of this body, substantiate the aforementioned claim. The author goes on to say that according to their sources, for this reason the OHR will pass 2 recommendations with regard to the unified budget (to postpone a deadline for passing of the city budget for June 30 and the budget will be labeled as a temporary one and it will be valid until the new Mostar authority is constituted after the local, October elections). The author concludes that this situation is another indicator of the fact that the implementation of the OHR's decision on Mostar does not go smoothly and according to the planned dynamics as international officials are persuading us. The author also says that some analysts, who are familiar with the work of the OHR and the situation in the Mostar City Administration, estimate that the full implementation of the new Mostar Statute in the field will last until the end of 2005.
