News Summary

BiH Presidency meets with Croatian Foreign Minister Picula

Croatian Foreign Minister Tonino Picula visited Sarajevo and met with the BiH Presidency, BiH Council of Ministers and High Representative Wolfgang Petritsch. The priorities of Picula's visit were to examine the status of Bosniaks and Serbs living in Croatia and the return of refugees. Picula expressed readiness to make maximum efforts to create conditions for the refugee return. An agreement was reached to include the issue of disputed BiH-Croatian border crossings on the agenda. Economic and trade relations are also a priority, they said. Petritsch and Picula pointed out the historical significance of the Picula visit to Sarajevo as a means of discussing issues of interests to all the BiH people. They said that the Dayton and Paris Agreements recognized the Croats in BiH as a constitutive people and the legitimacy of their cultural identity. They also agreed that the establishment of the new BiH Federation TV represents the appropriate mechanism for accomplishing all social, cultural and language needs of the Croats in BiH. Picula obligated himself to help in the search for an agreement between HRT and BiH in order to enable the broadcast of HRT-produced programming. Picula pointed out that the Croatian Government supports the sovereignty and territorial integrity of BiH and desires closer cooperation with BiH institutions. He accepted the concept of responsibility as established by the High Representative.

RS representatives in BiH Parliament will not accept draft BiH permanent election law – Banjac

Chairman of the BiH House of Representatives Mirko Banjac stated that RS representatives in the BiH Parliament would not accept the draft BiH permanent election law because it did not contain provisions for the election of BiH Presidency members. He added that the draft election law proposed by the SDP, the section detailing the manner of voting for BiH Presidency members and BiH House of People deputies, is unconstitutional. That is why RS representatives could not vote for these drafts. He accused Bosniak house representatives of wanting to change the BiH Constitution, no matter what. He added that the OHR draft election law is unacceptable because it does not contain provisions for the election presidency members. Sloga Coalition caucus leader Vito Rakic listed principles RS house representatives support in the adoption of the election law. These principles envisage an election law in accordance with the BiH Constitution and to regulate elections for the BiH common institutions. Rakic added that the BiH Presidency decision on the structure of the BiH Council of Ministers in fact means the introduction of a deputy to the chairman of the BiH Council of Ministers, which contravenes the provisions of the BiH Constitution.

Cavic denies that SDS against coalition with SRS

SDS Presidency Vice Chairman Dragan Cavic issued a press release denying a Nezavisne Novine article quoting a SRNA reported that called upon an interview Cavic gave to France Presse. He also presented a letter he had received from an Agence France Presse journalist, who excused himself, explaining that SRNA had no authority to use France Presse news because it was not a France Presse service subscriber. Cavic and France Presse mutually denied that Cavic had said, "the SDS does not want to be in coalition with the SRS" as well as that “the SDS wanted to rule together with the Sloga Coalition.” In the France Presse letter Cavic presented, it is stated that France Presse news depicts a modern SDS ready to accept the present peacetime situation, but without abandoning its policy of defending Serb national interests and its alliance with the SRS.
