News Summary

Sarovic assumes presidential duties in accordance with RS Constitution

RS Vice-president Mirko Sarovic informed representatives of the RS National Assembly that he has assumed all constitutional authorities of the RS President in accordance with Article 80 of the RS Constitution. Sarovic accepted all authorities to represent the RS, nominate a Prime Minister, appoint judges to the Constitutional Court, proclaim laws, grant amnesty, award decorations established by law, perform work in the areas of defense and security of the RS and deal with other countries and IC organizations. Sarovic invited the representatives to declare themselves on his decision. He also stated that he respects the current RS Government, but that it is not the government of this RS National Assembly, but of former RS President Biljana Plavsic. RS National Assembly Speaker Petar Djokic confirmed that Sarovic has taken on the presidential authorities. Djokic thanked him for his readiness to resolve the ongoing political crisis in the RS. "The RS National Assembly will continue working on 8 February" stated Djokic.

OSCE and European Council on voting in BiH for Croatian presidential elections

OSCE and European Council monitors for the Croatian presidential election have pointed out irregularities at polling stations in BiH. The foreign monitors in BiH stated that some voters voted multiple times. They also pointed out irregularities in maintaining secret ballots and negligence during the identification of voters. High Representative Wolfgang Petritsch stated that the new Croatian leadership must examine financing the Croat contingent of the BiH Federation Army. "Demilitarization in the region must strengthen in accordance with the Stability Pact" said Petritsch for Zagreb news magazine Globus. Petritsch considers the Croatian parliamentary elections to be an historical event. Petritsch also said that relations between BiH and Croatia should be sincere and that Croatia can help BiH on its road to the European Community.
