

OHR RTRS News Summary, 27 August 2000

News Headlines:

- Fires raging in RS (Ozren, Trebinje, Doboj, Nevesinje)
- Fires raging in Montenegro and Croatia
- IC will fill budget coffers in BiH one last time – US Special Envoy Richard Sclar, mentioning that corruption and smuggling are linked to budgetary deficits in both BiH entities
- Yugoslav custom officials did not allow RS Tourism and Trade Minister Nikola Kragulj to cross border into Yugoslavia on private visit
- 34 bodies of Serb civilian victims of war exhumed in Sarajevo, Konjic and Gorazde, and 27 successfully identified in Sarajevo
- President of International Commission for Missing Persons Bob Dole to meet with members of BiH Presidency in Sarajevo on Monday
- Victims of WWII German concentration and forced labor camps can submit claims for compensation to International Organization for Migration Office in Sarajevo
- 300 Serbs attend religious requiem in Vozuca, BiH Federation, the first time since war ended, no incidents reported
- Family home of Serb returnees Aleksa and Milana Maric in Livno attacked several times with stones
- Stambolic attorney Nikola Barovic says no state media in Serbia reported story on Stambolic disappearance, who went missing on Friday
- Election Commission for Montenegrin Electoral Unit confirms seven candidate lists registered for upcoming Yugoslav elections

- Serb boy killed and four injured in hit and run by unknown vehicle in village of Skulenovo near Lipljan, Kosovo
- 500 Kosovo Serbs hold protest rally in village of Skulenovo following hit and run
- Kosovo Serb National Council condemns incident in village Skulenovo
- US State Department envoy for Kosovo John Menses criticizes violence in Kosovo, adding assessment that its escalation must stemmed before elections
- Kouchner says his biggest success would be to stop violence before, during and after local elections in Kosovo
- World news
- Problems of gynecology clinics in RS
- Problems in Banja Luka transport company Autoprevoz
- Traditional festival 'Kocicevi Dani' held in Stricici, and Dodik and RS Government delegation attend
- Sports and weather