News Summary

RT RS sues RS Government for outstanding debt

RT RS issued a statement that it has raised charges against the RS Government in a Banja Luka court for non-fulfillment of financial and legal obligations towards this enterprise. In August 1998, Prime Minister Milorad Dodik signed an agreement with RT RS on government obligations to fund this media if funding through viewer subscriptions proves insufficient. The same clause exists in Law on RT RS that has been in effect since September 1999. After several months, the RS Government stopped regular and full payments of its obligations to RT RS, which subsequently brought RT RS into a very difficult position. Furthermore, the RS Government has not even met last year's budgetary obligations to RT RS. On several occasions, RT RS and IC representatives involved in this problem received promises that the RS Government would fulfill its obligations. That has not happened yet.

In order to protect its fundamental functioning as a public broadcasting service and fulfill its obligations toward citizens, RT RS is forced to undertake this measure, the RT RS statement said.
