Sarajevo – Krajisnik and VRS General Colic attended the first SCMM session. Another obligation from the DPA was implemented, and the SCMM was the last joint institution left to be established. The SCMM's main aim is to stabilise the situation and find a solution for overcoming conflicts if they occur. Krajisnik stated that the meeting was successful and that they harmonised the modalities of future work. Colic said that the SCMM will only discuss military issues and security which are the things people are worried about the most. HR Principle Deputy Klein said that today's meeting represents a historical moment in functioning of the joint institutions because the military aspect is the most difficult one to control and to find a joint solution for.

Pale – the head of the SDS Directorate, Vlado Vrkas announced that SDS, despite the IC pressure and establishment of many political parties, triumphed at the local elections, whereas SRS (Serb Radical Party) is the second one on the list. He concluded that parties that supported Plavsic faced disaster. It is obvious that the Serbs voted for the parties which respected the Constitution and preserved the Parliament.

RS PEC President, Cancar announced the latest election results. According to the figures, 93% of people who were registered voted at the elections. RS PEC is still waiting for results of voting in absence which is being counted at the warehouses in Rajlovac and Lukavica. According to unofficial figures in the RS Sarajevo and Herzegovina regions, SDS and SRS parties are in the lead. Cancar confirmed that ballots were used in the most democratic way possible, and that there was no abuse. Cancar hopes that the RS PEC will have more information tomorrow, adding that the most complicated part of the whole process is actual counting of ballots at polling stations. Once again he thanked all voters for voting with dignity and not causing any incidents.

Flash news:

At the EU session in Brussels, Foreign Ministers of 15 different countries expressed their satisfaction with the election process, warning that there is still a lot of work to do. NATO Secretary General, Solana also expressed his satisfaction with the elections, inviting politicians to respect people's decision. He congratulated SFOR and OSCE for putting a lot of efforts in the process. British Foreign Minister, Cook is also satisfied with the organisation and conducting of the local elections.

The Russian media said that the IC can feel relieved now since the most complicated elections ever passed without any incidents. Only a part of Serb refugees could vote where they wanted, whereas Muslims took the advantage. German media reported correctly on the elections, talking about Serbs who were harassed by Croats in Drvar. The Times criticised Croat authorities because of obstructions in Drvar.

Liberation claims that Serbs, Croats, and Muslims voted on 13 and 14 at the elections whose results will not be different than what the current situation is, because OSCE made several changes at the last minute. Austrian media said that the IC should help implement the election results, and the implementation can be encouraged by economic pressure against municipalities that obstruct the results.

Greek media reported that the IC counted on change of authorities in some of the RS key municipalities, and took care of it while establishing the voters' lists.

Headlines

The President of the RS Biljana Plavsic signed the contract worth DM 50 000 000

The World Bank is going to direct concrete financial means to the Dayton BiH. On that occasion Biljana Plavsic received the Head of Mission of the World Bank, Mr. Rory O'Sullivan today in Banja Luka.

In ten days the World Bank will approve the credit arrangements for the RS under the very convenient conditions for DM 50 000 000. That is the result of today's Biljana Plavsic's discussion with Mr Rory O'Sullivan. The documents which will provide the means for the reconstruction of the school buildings , for the furnishing and school equipment were signed. The second part of this credit will be directed to the reconstruction of the roads and the bridges in the RS. The similar arrangements have already been approved in the Federation entity and they represent only the smaller part of the international financial help which will continue in the next year. In October the World Bank will provide the financial support to the privatization and to the reform of the Bank system and for the reconstruction of the power net. By the end of the year , we are expecting the help to the RS budget and the agriculture, forestry , water supply and public services.

Biljana Plavsic said:

"The loan will be assigned for the reconstruction of primary and secondary education, for the repairing of the school buildings, furnishing and equipping. The second part of that help is for the reconstruction of the roads and bridges .This is only a part of one very big project which will start, I hope, next year, and I have to say that we will have school buildings, furniture and pupils, but we won't have the salaries to pay out the professors and to complete this whole process in the way that should be completed."

In this way the IC made it clear once again that it is determined to correct the very incorrect imbalance towards the RS when it comes to the concrete financial help.

In the most of the cities of the RS, SDS won the biggest number of votes

The results of the municipal elections in the RS have been the main subject in the media today , in the political circles and among the people. It seems that someone of the foreign reporters made absolutely correct prognosis about the results of the elections with three sentences:

- The Muslims showed a maximum activity voting on the other territory.
- The Croats protected their territories at any price from both, the Moslem and the Serb voters.
- The Serbs provided the best conditions for voting.

Time will show if the Serb authorities made a useful step towards the world community with this approach.

According to the current, although uncompleted information, SDS won the majority of the Board positions in Brcko, Bijeljina, Dobojski, Prijedor, Gradiska, Trebinje, Modrica, Visegrad, Novi Grad, Kozarska Dubica, Samac, Pelagicevo, Knezevo, Trnovo, Krupa na Uni, Kotor Varos, Pale and Ilidza.

SRS won the majority in Srbinje, Srpsko Sarajevo, Srpski Sanski Most, Ugljevik, Bratunac and Srpsko Orasje.

SPS won the trust of the people from Banja Luka, Sipovo, Mrkonjic Grad and Celinac.

SNSD leads in Srbac and Laktasi.

Petar Cancar, the President of the Republic Electoral Commission said: "According to the information received at the Center of the Republic Electoral Commission, 95 % of the registered persons voted on the territory of the RS personally.

We received and worked on results from the 30 municipalities until now, including the electoral unit in Banja Luka, too. We have the total number of voters, the number of irregular ballots, the number of the votes that each political party won, but all those information are temporary because we do not have the results of the absentee voters. We hope that we will have the final results for 61 municipalities by tomorrow afternoon and that we will present this to the public in an adequate way."

The biggest electoral problem was Drvar where local Croatians authorities did everything to stop the persistent people from Drvar to vote in their town. This was concluded by the representatives of the IC, too. Around 1580 people from Drvar who were registered on the electoral lists and who came with 29 buses and 86 private vehicles managed to vote in their town after all. This was confirmed on today's press conference for the journalists in Banja Luka by Alun Roberts, the spokesman for IPTF. He added that beside numerous incidents, a few people have been beaten up.

The spokesman for OSCE stated that the polling stations were closed at 19:00 hours everywhere else except in Drvar, Travnik and Brcko. When the journalists insisted on revealing the culprit who caused the problems for the people from Drvar, he said that if some should be responsible that is the local Croatian police.

The world diplomacy assessed the elections in the Dayton BiH as the most complicated elections in the history

Russian media said that the IC can be relieved because the most complicated elections passed without big incidents

The French magazine "Liberation" claims that the Serbs, Moslems and Croats were choosing their representatives in the elections , but the results will not be applied.

Austrian commentators said today that the elections in the RS and FBiH passed without problems.

Spanish magazines are informing about the elections writing the titles, " Surprisingly peaceful elections", "The elections under the special supervising" , "Divided country", and " Change or farce".
