Reforming of the police and establishment of an independent judiciary are primary questions in terms of establishing permanent peace in B&H and they will be the main topics of the Madrid Conference – Carlos Westendorp said. As Tanjug reports, Westendorp said that it is most important in this period to transform the B&H police which should be democratic, multi ethnic and professional. Talking about the judiciary, Westendorp said it is necessary to establish independent, impartial and multi ethnic judiciary which would be free from the influence of local authorities.

SDS is pleased because the RS delegation went to Madrid with a single platform about the declaration – SDS Spokesperson, Dragana Beric said at the press conference. With some stipulations in the declaration, the international community tries to establish pre-war B&H structure – Beric said. As one example she listed the stipulation in the declaration with which the Council of Ministers would be made up of 6 instead of the current 3 members which means establishment of B&H government.
