The Chair of the B&H Presidency, Zivko Radisic assessed, at a press conference, that the Madrid conference should be the turning point in the implementation of the Dayton Agreement. "Basically the Conference dealt with the question of defending basic Dayton directions, the creation of conditions for further peace implementation, stabilisation of the overall situation in B&H and beyond, and the establishment of measures and tasks for forthcoming activities" – Radisic said. According to Radisic there are two tendencies, the first is trying to establish B&H as a strong central state, and according to the other one B&H is a particular state with multi ethnic and constitutional aspects – Radisic said.
