Kosmet-related news. The FRY President Slobodan Milosevic refused today to receive the U. S. Envoy to Kosmet Christopher Hill. According to Milosevic, the threats to Yugoslavia that it will be bombed if it does not allow the foreign occupation of a part of its territory represents a warning to the whole world and all the nations and people who care about freedom and peace. Milosevic underlined: "We shall not give up Kosovo even if bombing is the price". The visit of the U. S. Secretary Madeleine Albright and the foreign ministers of France and Great Britain, Hubert Vedrine and Robin Cook, to Belgrade announced for tomorrow is not excluded, diplomats in Rambouillet stated today. Albright is to visit Rambouillet tomorrow as well. There follows a report on the Rambouillet negotiations, related activities and reactions from the world, as well as the situation in Kosovo. Due to the uncertain political situation, the embassies of the USA, Great Britain, Canada and Germany to Belgrade have started evacuating part of their staff and closed the consular offices for issuing visas.
