Brcko and the forthcoming arbitration award for the area of this city were the main topics of today's SPRS press conference held in Banja Luka. The member of the SPRS Main

The prime minister designate Brane Miljus confirmed today to the SRNA agency that he had finished the first part of consultations with all the presidents of the parties, i.e. their representatives. According to his statement, all those he had talked to agreed with his concept of the Government. According to Miljus, the SNS president Biljana Plavsic refused to talk with him since she considers, as stated, that she represents the Coalition "Sloga" and not the SNS and he had already consulted other members of this party. Reiterating that his Government would be a Government of experts and a multinational one, Miljus expressed the belief that the cabinet that he is going to complete after the second part of the consultations would obtain an absolute majority at the assembly session on January 25. He went on to say that an information war is being led against him in the RS.
