

OHR SRT News Summary, 30 December 1998

Headlines

- At the beginning of next year, Republika Srpska will get the new Government, expects Petar Djokic, the RS NA Speaker.
- The RS Organisation of the families of POWs and killed soldiers and missing civilians demands that 1999 be declared the year of finding the missing persons
- So-called Kosovo Liberation Army used the cease-fire from the agreement Milosevic-Holbrooke for intensifying armament and training, claims London's "Daily Telegraph"
- OSCE will in the next year concentrate on balanced arms reduction in BiH

The RS NA Speaker, Petar Djokic expects the RS to get the new Government elected and verified by the Serb parliament, at the beginning of the next year. At today's press conference in Banja Luka, he said the RS NA had made a non-binding suggestion to the President to nominate the current PM Milorad Dodik for the PM designate. He added that any foreign interference in electing the Government would be very harmful.

1:15

The delegation of the RS Association of municipalities and towns met with the Deputy PM and the Minister for Administration and Local Administration, Ostoja Kremenovic, to discuss draft Laws on local administration and territorial organisation of the RS.

1:30

The delegation of the RS Organisation of the families of POWs, killed soldiers and missing civilians met with the Deputy PM and the portfolio Minister, Tihomir Gligoric to discuss their situation and legislation pertaining to these issues.

2:10

The Serb candidate for the CoM Co-Chairman, Svetozar Mihajlovic stated that, if elected, he would strongly support the implementation of the DA, so that the HR would not have to use his authorities.

1:10

Political party press conferences (SPRS, SNS, SNSD)

2:40

Kosovo-related news

2:25