President Plavsic and Prime Minister Dodik held separate meetings today with Westendorp and Gelbard. While no statements were issued after the meetings, Dodik and Westendorp and, later on Gelbard addressed the present press. According to Westendorp the situation in the RS is improving. "The forthcoming elections should be held in a peaceful and democratic way and I am sure that the RS people would make the right choice". Dodik believed that the RS Government would do their utmost to ensure fair and democratic elections. "Joint efforts by the Government and the OHR have considerably improved economic and social situation of the RS people. I would like to thank Mr. Westendorp on his personal efforts which have led to international donors acknowledging and appreciating the situation here. What is very important is that, today, the international community has no reserves in terms of Eastern parts of the RS, and that there are several dozen joint projects currently ongoing there". On the recent decision by the RS Government removing 16 directors of local radio and TV stations, Westendorp said: "Prime Minister Dodik has convinced me that the rules of fair and accurate reporting that are valid in democratic countries must be respected here, too. A Statute and a Charter have been signed that have been approved by the Government and the IC and should now be honored." The new Head of the Banja-Luka- based OHR, Miguel Arias, was introduced at the meetings today.

Prime Minister Dodik also met with Gelbard and the U.S. Ambassador in BiH, Kauzlarich. Dodik stated that: "Concrete projects by the US AID and the U.S. Government prove that the policy pursued by our government is supported by the U.S Government". Gelbard stressed that: "The U.S. is amazed at the activities that have been undertaken in the past 6 months, since the appointment of the new Government. We are impressed with the progress achieved by the Government with Madam Plavsic, Mr. Dodik and Mr. Radisic in the head." Gelbard believed that the forthcoming elections would be held in a fair and democratic atmosphere and praised the work of the OSCE.
