The inaugural session of the RS NA will be continued on Wednesday, November 4th. The decision on adjournment of the session was made last night, at the continuation of the session after an eight-hour break during which the Clubs of Deputies tried to agree on election of the NA leadership. Head of the SPRS Club, Dragutin Ilic, stated that his party expressed willingness for a compromise in establishing a Government which would be supported by the IC, as well as having the legislative authorities that will reflect the will of people. Head of the SRS Club, Milan Lazic, said that it was improper of the SPRS to request the election of a new Government at the NA session as a pre-condition for the newly elected RS President to take the oath of office. President of the SDS and a Deputy, Dragan Kalinic said at the speaker's stand that a party agreement had been made and that the election of the NA leadership is agreed upon. He did not want to give any names, but he emphasised that the SDS agreed to a compromise. Head of the Coalition for Single and Democratic BiH, Safet Bico said that there is "a game of cat and mouse" of the SDS and SRS with the Coalition, as they tried through the IC to transfer their responsibility on to the Coalition.

Cabinet of the RS PM issued a press release denying information published by some media yesterday, creating an impression that yesterday's session of the RS Government was held in two parts and that international officials attended a part of the session. The release states that the 31st session of the Government was held yesterday and that it centered on preparations for inaugural session of the RS NA. PM Dodik left the session to meet with the HR, Carlos Westendorp, President of the RS, Biljana Plavsic and President of the BiH Presidency, Zivko Radisic. The release states that the Government did not adjourn its session and it was chaired by one of the Deputy PMs, so the representatives of the IC did not attend the session.
