The Serb Coalition for RS, in today's press release, comments on the current political momentum in the RS after the last assembly session: "A thesis has been created that the political life of the RS is experiencing a presidential crisis, for the two prime minister designates, proposed by President Poplasen, did not manage to form a Government. In order to establish what this crisis was about, the Serb Coalition for RS suggests that the RS President requests the parliamentary parties and coalitions to try to form the parliamentary majority through direct negotiations and ask their person, chosen on the basis of the signed programme, to be given the mandate for the composition of the Government...By accepting this suggestion, the parliamentary majority would be formed before the eyes of the public, in the manner of the best democratic traditions of the West, so the IC representatives could not bring it into question" says the press release.
