War crimes

Orthodox Church denies protecting war crimes suspects, strongly condemns SFOR action	RHB, BHTV 1 Fri, FTV Fri, RTRS Fri, Oslobođenje pg 2 'SPC is not protecting war criminals', Dnevni Avaz Sat pg 8 'People in BiH have three big values', inset: 'SPC is not protecting war criminals, Nezavisne Novine pg. 2 'SPC does not protect war crime suspects' – In the press release, the Eparchy of Dabrobosanska Region has reiterated that SPC (Serb Orthodox Church) does not support war crime suspects. "We claim responsibly, clearly and unambiguously, that SPC, its bishops and priests, neither protect, nor support and help hiding of the war crimes suspects!" carries the press release. SPC has also called on international functionaries and media in BiH to stop making accusations of this kind, "because they cannot amnesty the crime committed against the Church". The press release was signed by Metropolitan of Dabrobosanska region Nikolaj. RTRS Sat – In the Easter greeting, Metropolitan Nikolaj stated that those who committed the crime of injuring priest Jeremija Starovlah and his son have gone below any moral values and humanity: "Because of that, as Good's creatures we condemn no one, but instead petty them, however we condemn very much their sins and one making mistakes is a collaborator not of Good but of Devil. This event... said everything and comments are not needed anymore". Oslobođenje cover, pgs 4&5 'SPC demands Fincia and Ceric to condemn attack on Starovlah' – Mitar Tanasic, the secretary of Dabrobosanska Eparchy, comments that SPC did not see a reason for further participation in the Inter-religious council if all religious communities do not condemn the attack on priest Starovlah and his son [attack was condemned by Catholic church, but not Jewish and Islamic communities, claims Tanasic]. He also adds that the action carried out by SFOR troops in Pale on 1 April was nothing but an attack against Orthodox Church, and adds that the international community has good relations with Islamic and Jewish communities, while it is not equally favourable of Orthodox and Catholic churches. Tanasic concludes that neither priest Starovlah nor SPC supported war criminals. Asked why the Church doesn't invite war crimes suspects at large to surrender, Tanasic answers: "SPC is not a judge, or the prosecutor... It is not up to us to call on surrender. ICTY and authorities should do that."

Ashdown on apprehension of war crimes suspects	FENA – The High Representative for BiH, Paddy Ashdown, told FENA news agency that there were two priorities that could ensure future for BiH, the first one to join the Partnership for Peace programme in June, and the second to enter the European tunnel in June or by end of the year. “This task requires two things. First, it is necessary to accelerate the reformatory process and if we are not able to do this, we shall not enter Europe. Second, we need to fulfill the international law, especially in the segment that refers to cooperation with the Hague Tribunal”, said Ashdown. The first task, he added, must be fulfilled by the State authorities. The second, stressed Ashdown, is a task for the RS authorities to show that they are actively cooperating with the Hague Tribunal, which has not been the case so far. “This is not an ‘if’, this is something that must be done. If we are not able to prove to NATO that we can fulfil this condition, I am afraid that NATO will say ‘no’. If the entire BiH has to suffer the damage because the RS was unable to fulfil this condition and that we did not, as a country, join PfP, it will be great misfortune”, warned Ashdown. This will, he added, force us to consider other matters, to see where the responsibility lies in the context of RS and individually. “Then we shall have to consider providing the state level with more competencies in the sense of apprehending the indicted war criminals. If the entities show that they are not able to cooperate in apprehending the indicted war criminals, than we shall have to enhance the State for this task”, said the High Representative. Saying that it would be unfortunate if the Republika Srpska did not meet the pre-requisites and BiH did not join the PfP as a whole, HR Ashdown notes that in that case one should be reviewing whether to give bigger authorities to the state level, in terms of apprehension of war criminals, that the state does not have at the moment. RHB, FTV Fri, Dnevni Avaz Sat pg 2 ‘If entire BiH suffers damage because of RS, that would be a big misfortune’, Oslobodjenje Sat pg 2 ‘Arrest of war criminals to be transferred to the state’, Vecernji List, page 2 ‘Raise apprehending of war criminals to state level’ carried HR’s statements given to Fena.

Srebrenica Commisison will seek deadline extension for its report	Oslobodjenje Sat cover page story 'Ashdown announced sanctions against Mikerevic and Cavic' by Az. Kalamujic – The article reads that the Commission appointed to investigate events in Srebrenica in July 1005 will seek extensions of the deadline for submitting its first report on missing persons. Oslobodjenje says the next week Commission will pose this demand to the High Representative Paddy Ashdown, and adds that while the report is supposed to be delivered by 14 April, however "due to the obstruction in the Commission work and by those responsible in RS that will, obviously, not be possible." Author also reminds of the statement by Bernard Fassier, Senior Deputy High Representative, which says that Ashdown may dismiss uncooperative members of the commission, and also announces possible sanctions against RS Prime Minister Dragan Mikerevic and RS President Dragan Cavic. Article concludes that "OHR will obviously not put up with political manipulations around the Srebrenica crimes anymore." Dnevni Avaz Sat pg 4 'We ask for another two months for the report' – Vice President of the Commission, Smail Cekic, stated for DA that based on the Commission's work to date it was not possible to make a final report, and therefore HR Ashdown was asked to extend the deadline for another two months.
Srebrenica Commission member under police protection	Dnevni Avaz Sun cover 'RS police protects Smail Cekic', pg 2 'RS police must protect Smail Cekic' – DA brings that RS police approved protection for the Srebrenica Commission Vice President Smail Cekic upon a demand by the RS Prime Minister Dragan Mikerevic, Daily says that it is still not known for what reason Mikerevic asked for Cekic's protection.

Bond on apprehension of war crimes: 'additional pressure is necessary'	Dnevni Avaz Sun cover splash 'Americans are staying in BiH', pg 5 'USA will not leave BiH' by Sead Numanovic – In an interview to DA, US Ambassador to BiH, Clifford Bond, says that BiH now "faces the biggest problem of them all – full cooperation with ICTY. And nobody should have illusions that the full cooperation with ICTY was not only precondition for BiH accession to PfP, but also to EU." He adds that local authorities, especially those in RS, must prove that they take this responsibility seriously. Asked what needs to be done to ensure RS authorities complying this cooperation, Bond answered: "I don't want to speculate what actions could follow, but additional pressure is necessary." Dnevni List pgs 24 and 25 'I doubt that pre-requisites for joining Partnership for Peace will be met by June', by Renata Radic – In an interview to DL, Ambassador Bond answers to journalist question whether BiH will be joining the PfP if it does not arrest war criminal by June, by saying: 'In December last year, the NATO Council, despite welcoming the reform in the area of defence, was clear in terms of pre-requisites for membership in Partnership for Peace. The final press release from the summit clearly stipulated that one of conditions was a complete cooperation with The Hague Tribunal. In this matter, there has not been a serious cooperation of the Republika Srpska. All the members of NATO will be talking at Istanbul whether conditions pertaining to The Hague Tribunal have been met. At the moment, we cannot say it is the case. I am not an optimist the pre-requisite can be met. Only the arrest of Radovan Karadzic would be enough to meet the pre-requisites'.
SRNA: Dudakovic, Mlaco could be indicted by ICTY for war crimes	Nezavisne Novine pg 6 'Potential indictees are Dudakovic and Mlaco' – The sources close to the Hague Tribunal and the authorities of BiH in Sarajevo confirmed that two more indictments could be delivered to Sarajevo against Bosniaks. First concerns Atif Dudakovic, Commander of 5th Corps of former BiH Army, and the second one concerns Dzevad Mlaco, the war-time Mayor of Bugojno. RHB, RTRS Fri – According to the information given to SRNA news agency from abovementioned sources, Mlaco could be indicted for disappearance of at least 20 Croat civilians in Bugojno. Sources say that general Dudakovic could face indictments for crimes against Serbs in BiH in 1995, and for bombing of Zadar in 1991, at the time when he was JNA general.

SDA: BiH cannot be a hostage to RS' lack of cooperation with ICTY	RHB, Oslobođenje Sat pg 4 'BiH cannot be a hostage', Dnevni Avaz Sat pg 4 'BiH cannot be hostage of RS' lack of cooperation with ICTY', Dnevni List page 3 'Mehmedovic: BiH cannot suffer consequences of RS not cooperating with The Hague Tribunal' – The President of SDA Caucus in the FBiH Parliament, Semsudin Mehmedovic, stated at the press conference that 'it is the position of the SDA that BiH cannot be a hostage to RS's lack of cooperation with The Hague Tribunal'. Mehmedovic noted it is impermissible that all the RS Governments, from 1995 to date, have not launched a single procedure of war crimes against non-Serbs and that the RS have not arrested a single of 25 war crimes suspects charged by the ICTY. 'It is high time that the RS, not the whole BiH, suffers consequences', says Mehmedovic.

'BiH authorities will help solving Sjekirica case' – BiH Security Minister, Barisa Colak, says that BiH authorities will do everything to shed a light on events related to the Sjekirica case. Minister Colak goes on to say that this and similar cases can slow the BiH path to Euro-Atlantic integration, noting that investigations into ways how persons of African and Asian origin were given BiH citizenships during the war have been intensified in past six months.

RHB – "All of this time, especially in last half of year we have been intensively working on... determining in which ways the BiH citizenships were granted to certain citizens of African and Asian origin during the war, and... we want to know where those people are now... These people have changed, several times, their addresses and even their names and now that this is a really complicated problem to which BiH must pay attention if it really wants to be a state in real sense of that word, as the fight against terrorism is not only the fight carried out by only one State or a region," said Barisa Colak speaking about terrorism.

OHR: BiH must seriously treat security issues	RHB, Dnevni Avaz Sat pg 3 'Everybody in BiH must seriously treat security issue', Slobodna Dalmacija pg 16 'Security should be seriously dealt with' – OHR spokesperson, Vedran Persic, stated that the recent tragic terrorist attacks in Spain and news on possible connections of a BiH citizen with the attacks showed the need for everyone in BiH to take the issue of security seriously. Vecernji List pg 3 'OHR: Security must be at top of agenda' – In context of Persic's statement, VL reads that the story around Sanel Sjekirica underlines the importance of keeping the security issues at the top of the political agenda if BiH 's ambitions to join EU and NATO are to be realized. BHTV 1 Fri – "First of all, this highlights the importance of existence of SIPA and institutions that will seriously deal with issues of crime and also highlights the importance of implementing the Law on Intelligence and Security Agency, whose task would be to collect information in the field of safety," stated Vedran Perisic, OHR spokesman. BHTV 1 also commented that possibility of BiH citizen's involvement in the terrorist attack in Madrid placed BiH in the repulsive situation, and that unless it gets proven Sjekirica is not involved in the attack, BiH would be even further far from Europe.

speculations
on terrorist camps in BiH

Oslobodjenje Sat cover, pg 7 'It is time to help living' by FENA – In an interview to Fena news agency, Reis effendi Mustafa Ceric comments on the media speculations on terrorism camps in BiH: "I think that following 11 September we probably did not offer all answers that the West wants to hear from us and that there is a certain doubt of terrorists' camps here in Bosnia, but all that is just a continuation of the politic and those politicians in Europe who want to clear their polluted conscience because they allowed Srebrenica [to happen]. There will always be those who will claim that we are potential terrorists, mujaheedins who cannot be trusted. But what happens now? Bosniaks are getting further away from the state functions. I advise the international community not to do that."

As for the BiH’s admission to Partnership for Peace, minister says he is still optimistic that BiH will be invited to join the programme in June at NATO Istanbul summit. We believe we are right and able to accomplish our demands. We just demand a minimal respect for human rights," says Edhem Biber. Namely, the Association requests moratorium on implementation of amendments of the Bankruptcy Law until a realistic programme for social accommodating of workers has been designed. BHTV 1 Sat – Biber claims that the Law on Bankruptcy is not in accordance with the international standards and that the changes to the Law minimize rights of workers. Syndicate says that the means for social care ought to be acquired 20 % from the Employment Bureau and 20 % from privatisation. According to a letter, signed by the FBiH Deputy PM Gavrilko Grahovac, sent to BiH Syndicate says that the threat of social protests shows that the Union is ready to involve itself into politicisation of inevitable economic processes. Dnevni Avaz Sat pg 2 'Minister Grahovac offers partnership to Syndicate', Oslobodjenje Sat pg 9 'We will carry out all obligations taken upon' – The letter by Grahovac also states that the FBiH Government is committed to carrying out all the obligations taken upon through the programme for providing social care to the workers, and that it will follow up on the programme's implementation. Grahovac also invited Syndicate to cooperate with the Government and solve all the issues in question. Oslobodjenje Sun pgs 4&5 'Government cannot offer something it doesn't have' – FBiH Deputy Prime Minister Dragan Vrankic comments that Syndicate's actions were premature, and that politics got involved in entire process. This odd state can be created only by people who do not love us or have interest to keep this area full of tremors'. Cardinal Puljic also stresses the poor return of the Croats to the Republika Srpska in particular, complaining of limited funds for the Croat returnees. 'So many funds have gone through local authorities, but did not end up in reconstruction. International representatives know that, and they consciously ignore it. When it comes to investments into infrastructure or perspective self-sustainable return, one should go through the investments and see that areas where Croats lived or where they live at the moment have been bypassed (...) It goes that far that the British ambassador says on TV Hayat that Bishops in BiH talk wrongly about the return, because he knows better. In other words, we, who have the real insight on the ground, we speak untruth for the diplomats, and they know better etc. That was humiliating and insulting', says Cardinal Puljic.

"Now these reforms have to be implemented. And entire society faces problems because parties and leaders of the parties in the authorities are still taking everything down to the interests of one group, instead of entire society," says Bond. Asked whether he doesn't trust politicians, Bond answered: "I think it is time to act, and to for words. If this leadership is not capable of coming up with appropriate actions, than I hope that the voters will be wise enough to elect other people. Because, you cannot stay in this condition. You have to move forwards." Asked whether this was a call for early elections, Bond denied it. US Ambassador concludes that US will not withdraw from BiH after EU takes over SFOR mandate.
