

Police Restructuring – EUPM Launches New Website

Today the EUPM Press and Public Information Department is launching its new EUPM Web Site. The new site is completely different from the original site. It has a new format, new style of presenting news and articles about the EUPM. Part of the aim of the new Web Site is to inform the public more clearly on police restructuring. Visitors of the website can find specific and detailed information on the topic, the proposed 9+1 map, the full PRC report, articles and information on the upcoming public information events such as the mentioned above.

A separate and specific aim of the new Site is to ensure that those who want to know about the EUPM can find information quickly. Namely, the public of Bosnia and Herzegovina . The new Web Site which is launched today will therefore be in all three of the main languages of BiH, as well as English.

Access to the new Web Site is by www.eupm.org.
