

Principal Deputy High Representative meets with students from United States

Principal Deputy High Representative and Brčko District Supervisor Louis Crishock met with students from James Madison University in the United States to discuss Bosnia and Herzegovina's current political, economic, and social developments.

During the meeting, he also outlined the role and mandate of the Office of the High Representative, emphasizing its contribution to maintaining stability, supporting reconciliation, and advancing the country's post-conflict recovery and development.