

Supervisor Gregorian Visits Brcko District Archive Building and the new Day Care Center for Persons with Special Needs

Today, Brcko Supervisor Dr. Raffi Gregorian visited the new building of the Brcko District Archive and the new Day Care Center for persons with special needs.

Both facilities have been badly needed for many years and their implementation has been delayed, but now both are ready to be placed in function soon.

With his visit, the Supervisor demonstrated his interest in the progress of both projects as indicators for the effective and permanent functioning of District institutions.

“I am particularly pleased that the new Day Care Center will provide a modern Mental-Rehabilitation and Education Center that will now be a learning and developmental environment for children and adults with special needs ” the Supervisor said, and added that he will closely monitor the use of funds collected by fining members of the Assembly and the Government by way of Supervisory Orders of September 19, and October 8, 2008, for the purpose of the Day Care Center.
